JAMAICA TRAIN DEATHS MAY BE MORE THAN 60

Known Killed Total 52, Injured 70, in Derailment on Mountain Grade

Workmen Dig Through Debris

KINGSTON, Jamaica (CP) — Workmen dug today through the debris of the worst train wreck in the history of the West Indies in search of bodies they believed would raise the toll from 52 known dead to more than 60.

Seventy others were in hospitals. Few of the 300-odd passengers, all natives, escaped unhurt. The wreck occurred at Balaclava, 70 miles from here, late Saturday.

A locomotive drawing a five-coach Jamaica government railways train, bound for the holiday resort of Montego Bay, was derailed. A second engine, attached to the rear of the string to assist in pushing up steep grades, ploughed through the coaches, telescoping four and splintering them almost to matchwood. The crash was heard two miles away.

Four of the known dead were trainmen. Fifteen were unidentified.

As doctors and nurses rushed to the scene from almost every part of the island, sabotage rumors spread, only to be denied officially.

CARS BURST APART

The cars buckled and split open, throwing passengers in all directions. For a moment there was an almost complete silence, broken suddenly by the screams of the wounded and dying.

From a nearby water tank, a gang of railway workers rushed to the aid of those caught in the wreckage. Uninjured passengers and nearby residents assisted in rescue work.

IN SMALL FRAGMENTS

Three coaches were splintered into small pieces. The first had fallen over a river bank; the second crumpled like an egg shell. The third was thrown on top of the wreckage.

The tender of the front locomotive hurdled the engine and a baggage car lay beside both.

In the ruins of the first coach, a young negress imprisoned under the crushed body of an older woman, screamed repeatedly for help. But before frantic rescuers reached her, the cries grew fainter and finally ceased.

Officials said many of the dead were too badly mutilated to be identified. Several of those injured were given little chance of recovery.

An official inquiry will be held.

Yangtze Battle Is Deadlocked

Japanese Trying to Advance Toward Hankow Are Held By Chinese

SHANGHAI (AP)—Three Japanese columns attempting to fight their way up the Yangtze River toward Hankow, China's provisional capital, were held at a standstill Monday by desperate Chinese resistance.

Northeast of captured Kiukiang, 135 miles downriver from Hankow, Japanese cavalry fought to within a mile of Susung, but were repulsed.

In Shansi and Honan provinces and along the Peiping-Hankow and Tientsin-Pukow railways widespread daily clashes continued.

Chanted Prayers As Seas Threatened to Engulf Their Boat

Danny Barrieau and Indian Woman Go to Rescue of Boys; Adrift Three Days

"I figure it was not my time to die," said Daniel (Danny) Barrieau of Esquimalt, who fought tide-rips and angry seas in a 15-foot skiff for three days and nights without food or water in an heroic and successful effort to save the lives of a Kyuquot Indian woman, Marion Tom, and her two children, Norman, 10, and Moses, 7, in the Strait of Juan de Fuca.

Recovered from their terrifying experience the quartette reached Victoria at 9.30 Saturday night by the ferry Olympic from Port Angeles, thankful to be alive.

For 65 hours the four, in a frail oarless boat, drifted at the mercy of the swirling tide-rips in the Straits without food or water. They were drenched to the skin by seas that swept over them continuously.

How they survived none of them know. The consider it a miracle that they live to tell the tale.

Intensely dramatic was the story related by Barrieau.

WENT TO RESCUE

"I was on Bentinek Island gathering kelp on Wednesday afternoon about 3 when I heard cries for help, and saw two boys in a ten-foot dory struggling in the tide-rip off Race Rocks," said Barrieau.

"It was getting misty and the foghorn at the Race had just started blowing. The boys had lost both oars and they were being carried rapidly offshore.

"I realized that I was undertaking a difficult job, for I knew that the whole Pacific backed up around the Race. I grabbed my boat and with Mrs. Tom went to the assistance of her two boys.

"By the time we had reached the boys and had hauled them into my boat, were were caught by the strong tide-rip. I lost an oar and it was impossible to make any headway with the remaining one. Mrs. Tom had ripped a stick from the planking of the smaller skiff before he abandoned it, and she did great work with it

Victoria Woman Chats With Queen

Mrs. Gwen Spencer Hethey Talks With Her Majesty and Princesses at Garden Party

Word has been received in the city of Mrs. Hethey's meeting with the Queen.

Mrs. Hethey, who is the well-known rifle shot of Victoria, has been in England for the Bisley shoot and was presented to Her Majesty at the garden party by W. A. MacAdam, acting agent-general for B.C., and Mrs. MacAdam.

The Queen displayed keen interest in the riflewoman from halfway around the world. She appeared to be well versed in the details of the Bisley shoot and discussed them with Mrs. Hethey. She asked her how she had come to take up rifle-shooting and of her experiences in different meets.

The Queen introduced Mrs. Hethey to the two Princesses, Elizabeth and Margaret Rose, who were standing nearby. They appeared delighted to talk with Mrs. Hethey about her Bisley shooting.

HOPE FOR LOST PACIFIC PLANE

Fact No Wreckage Found Encourages Searchers For Hawaii Clipper

MANILA (AP)—A new note of optimism was sounded Monday night in the apparently hopeless search for the lost Hawaii Clipper and its 15 passengers.

As army and navy craft ended their fourth day of far-flung search with the terse retort, "found nothing," aeronautical experts of the Philippine department of communications expressed belief the 26-ton flying boat might still be afloat.

In support of their theory they pointed to the fact intensive search of the area where the Clipper last was heard from had failed to disclose a single bit of wreckage. They added the Clipper's radio might have failed after its last report and it might have left its course for some unknown reason and landed at a spot outside the present search zone.

PLANES FLY EASTWARD

Two United States Army bombers Monday flew far eastward of the Clipper's last radioed position and returned to their base by a route which took them over a section of the ocean which had not been searched before. They found nothing.

Lookouts from nine U.S. Navy surface craft, two navy amphibians, and the army transport Meigs likewise reported they had seen only empty seas.

The salvage ship Pigeon was ordered to base at a small island off Samar Island to act as an aid to the Herron, tender for the navy amphibians, thus increasing the planes' flying range by about 100 miles.

High army and navy officials met Monday night and discussed plans for future search. In some quarters it was believed they were about ready to give up.

Air Mission In Eastern Canada

British Envoys Talk With Representatives of Dominion Manufacturers

MONTREAL (CP) — Discussions of Great Britain's air mission with representatives of Canadian manufacturers continued today as Sir Frederick Handley-Page and A. H. Self, second deputy under-secretary to the British air ministry, conferred with a committee of five, chosen at a 90-minute morning session to carry on business for the Commercial Air Transport and Manufacturers' Association of Canada.

Composing the committee are R. J. Moffet of Canadian Vickers, president of the association; H. M. Pasmored of Fairchild Aircraft, Longueuil, Que.; W. J. Fandereon of Fleet Aircraft, Fort Erie, Ont.; H. N. Baird of the National Steel Car Corporation, Hamilton, Ont., and Stanley Burke of Boeing Aircraft, Vancouver.

Sir Frederick called the morning session "a very interesting meeting," but told newspapermen it would "be impossible at this time to divulge details of our conversation."

"We discussed the world state of the aircraft industry as well as the way in which Great Britain could be helpful to Canadian industry," he said.

Sir Frederick, Mr. Self and P. C. Bodis, secretary of the mission, expected to remain in Montreal for several days.

Soviet and Japan Troops Battle At Border Of Siberia

Week-end Fighting in Which Russians Said to Have Suffered 650 Casualties and to Have Withdrawn From Changkufeng Is Followed by Raid on Korean Border by 50 Soviet Planes, Five of Which Brought Down; Moscow Says Japanese Rebuffed at Manchukuan Border

TOKIO (AP)—A Korean army communique reported Monday Soviet warplanes bombed Japanese positions heavily in the disputed area on the Siberian-Manchukuan frontier.

The Russian planes were said to have flown twice over the border positions, bombing and machine-gunning the area.

The communique said Soviet squadrons, flying in formation, including heavy bombers, thundered over Changkufeng at 2.30 p.m. Monday (9.30 Sunday night P.S.T.) bombing the contested hill and other points along the Korean boundary where Japanese were concentrated.

A War Office announcement said defending airplanes brought down five Soviet craft.

The Japanese were stated to have been without casualties.

The communique, as the others before it which announced a clash Sunday in which Japanese were stated to have wrested Changkufeng Hill and other positions from the Russians, was couched in guarded phraseology.

Cautious statements, however, appeared to give the impression a major battle was developing in the disputed area.

RETIRE TO NORTH

A Japanese army communique, issued Monday, said Russian troops were withdrawing northward from Changkufeng. The clash Sunday near there was described as a "terrible fight."

The report of the Russian withdrawal followed a Japanese assertion Soviet forces had been driven from the disputed frontier territory.

The communique said only about 800 Russian soldiers remained in the Changkufeng area. It was assumed on the basis of the previous report they were outside the territory claimed by Japan.

ON DEFENSIVE

Both the War Office and the Foreign Office declared Japan now was ready to assume the defensive and had no intention of advancing farther.

"We do not want Soviet territory," the Foreign Office spokesman said, "but are prepared to prevent them from encroaching on Manchukuo and Korea."

War Minister Sieshiro Itagaki reported to Premier Fumimaro Konoye on the situation. Army sentiment is that if hostilities develop out of the series of border clashes, which started July 15, it will be because the Soviet Union forces the issue.

The War Office said that the fight began Saturday nightt and continued until dawn Monday.

CLAIMED BY BOTH

The area is close to the junction of the boundaries of Manchukuo, Russian Siberia and Japanse Korea, southwest of Vladivostok.

The Russians had occupied Changkufeng hill July 11. The Russians contend it is part of Russian Siberia, while the Japanese insist it is a portion of Manchukuo, governed with Japanese protection.

FIFTY KILLED

The Russians left 50 dead on the field Monday, the Tokio War Office said. Korean army headquarters estimated the Soviet casualties for Sunday to be 600. The Japanese listed capture of 13 tanks, four field pieces and three machines guns and two automatic rifles.

"Some casualties" among the Japanese were acknowledged.

The incident resulted in a series of emergency meetings of Prince Konoye, the Premier; Lieut.Gen. Itagaki, Minister of War and President of the Manchurian Affairs Bureau, and Kazushige Ugaki, Foreign Minister.

Among the 15 men aboard the Hawaii Clipper when it disappeared some 500 miles east of Manila was E. E. Wyman, above. For 10 years assistant to the president of Pan-American Airways, Mr. Wyman recently joined the Curtiss-Wright Corporation at New York as vice-president.

Hail Flattens Alberta Grain

CALGARY (CP)—Like a giant scythe, a freakish hailstorm brought damage to possibly more than a quarter million acres of croplands in central Alberta during the week-end.

Thousands of acres of fine wheat crops were mowed down, losses ranging from 40 to 100 per cent.

Whipped on by a strong north wind, the hail was followed by torrential rain in some districts, and in its wake left damaged farm buildings, flooded ditches and fields and almost impassable highways.

For farmers of the Olds district it was the fourth hail barrage of the season. It came down in sheets virtually wiping out a large part of the crop in the northwest and northeast sections of the district.

Three Hills today surveyed damage over an area of 40 miles.

British Protest Shanghai Rules

Woman and Daughter Detained By Japanese Troops at Settlement Bridge

SHANGHAI (AP)—Great Britain protested to Japanese authorities Monday against what was called the "increasingly belligerant attitude" of sentries guarding bridges from the International Settlement into Japanese-controlled sections of Shanghai.

The protest, delivered by the British Consul-General, Herbert Phillips, was the outgrowth of alleged rough treatment accorded Miss Dorothea Lintilhac when she crossed the Garden Bridge on the wrong side of the street.

Miss Linthilhac and her mother later were arrested and detained four hours when, attempting to avoid repetition of the incident, they used the Chapoo Bridge. They said they were walking on the wrong side of the bridges because of barbed-wire entanglements and dangerous traffic.

$50,000 Robbery In New York

Four Gunmen Hold Up Bank and Escape With Loot

NEW YORK (AP)—Four gunmen held up a branch of the Branco di Napoli Trust Company at First Avenue and 12th Street here this afternoon. Police said they fled with $50,000 in cash.

An armed guard, usually on duty in the bank, was at lunch when the gunmen entered. They cowed 14 customers and nine employees.

The cash they seized was to have been transferred later in the day to the banking firm's main branch on lower Broadway. The branch bank is in the heart of a pushcart district on the lower east side.

"Miss Victoria" Will Be Crowned Tonight

Ceremony on Steps of Parliament Buildings to Start Week's Celebrations

Celebration of Victoria's birthday and Navy Week opened today and events of widespread and varied interest are scheduled for every afternoon and evening until Saturday.

The coronation of Miss Kay White as "Miss Victoria" on the steps of the Parliament Buildings tonight at 8 by Premier Pattullo will climax today's activities. This ceremony will be followed by the Coronation Ball at the Empress Hotel.

The public will participate during the week in a splendid program, which has taken enthusiastic members of the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce many weeks of hard work to arrange.

Next attractions on the Junior Chamber program are the day and night parades, which will be staged in the downtown area on Wednesday and Saturday, respectively.

Powerful floodlights loaned by Central Films Ltd., will illuminate the scene for Miss White's coronation at the Buildings. Music will be supplied by the Canadian Scottish Band and the Imperial Quartette, which is composed of James F. Oakman, F. L. Tupman, J. W. Buckler and James Townsend.

CORONETS FOR TWO

"Miss Victoria's" two attendants, Miss Doreen McGregor and Miss Jean Wilson, will receive their coronets.

This program is scheduled to start at 8, with Frank J. Sehl as master of ceremonies. He will introduce the principals over the loudspeaker system.

A feature that will add a regal aspect to the Coronation Ball will be the colorful grand march at 10.30. The Junior Chamber's smart-stepping and gaily-uniformed girls' drill team, coached by Norman Foster, will form the guard of honor, escorting "Miss Victoria" and her two attendants to the dais, which will be appropriately decorated in royal purple.

This will be followed by the "Coronation Waltz," which will be led by Miss White, and the

Heat Wave and Floods In Britain

LONDON (AP)—Half of Great Britain sizzled today in a heat wave while a large area was submerged by freak floods.

A death toll of 13 already had been tabulated as record crowds of vacationists in southern England began the last day of the three-day bank holiday. Two of the deaths were from prostration in heat of 85 degrees.

Six and one-half inches of rain—the heaviest in 40 years—swamped the lake district in Cumberland and Westmorland, halted steamer services, flooded streets and houses, drowned livestock, submerged automobiles and swept fish into back yards.

MANY WADED

Campers in the lake area at the week-end, men women and children, hastened to higher ground. In some cases those caught in the downpour were forced to struggle through water knee-deep which swept down hillsides, leveling tents and carrying away bedding.

THE WEATHER

VICTORIA, 5 a.m. today—Pressure appears to be high off Vancouver Island coast and low over northern British Columbia. Light, scattered showers have occurred in northern districts but the weather has been fair in the south with moderate temperature. A few local thunderstorms are reported on the prairie.

WEDNESDAY'S PARADE

Wednesday afternoon's parade promises to be the most outstanding ever presented in this city and is expected to be a mile and a half in length. The largest marching unit ever assembled in a local parade will participate in this procession, including 12 bands, with five permanent and two nonpermanent militia forces.

Ernest Harris, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, said today that Victoria merchants and organizations were responding well to the chamber's request for floats. This year's procession will include a number of outside entries, which will give the event an international touch and will also produce some new and novel attractions. Probably the most unusual feature is the Women's Institute entry, which has been so designed that the truck on which it is placed has to be driven backwards.

Mr. Harris reported the route for the parade had been simplified to make it easier to manipulate the floats.

In order to eliminate any holdups that will delay the starting time, 30 feet of the Athletic Park fence will be taken down so that all the entries, of which there will be more this year, will be able to get out of the enclosure in fast time.

The following entries have been received to date: The South Vancouver Island Dairymen's Association, the Victoria Fire Department, Speedway Delivery Company, Chinese Consolidated Benevolent Association, Firemen's Mutual Benefit Association, the Victoria Women's Institute, Wing Sang Lung Co., Shawnigan Lumber Yards Ltd., Buckerfield's Ltd., Dowell's Pacific Transfer and Storage Co. Ltd., Togo Cleaners, Victoria Riding Academy, Willows Park Riding Academy.

Baldwin's Nurseries, Blue Line Transportation Co., Miss Gladys Townsend, Victoria Japanese Society, Southall Stove Co., George Williamson, Hudson H. Blake, Portland Rose Festival Association, Fraternal Order of Eagles, Donald Stratford and the Shawnigan Lake Athletic Association.

SIX KILLED IN PALESTINE CLASH

JERUSALEM (CP)—Military authorities reported today the deaths of six men in a band which launched an attack from ambush against trucks carrying soldiers.

Three soldiers were wounded, one of them seriously. The attack was made between Ramallah and Nablus. The soldiers pursued the band and, in addition to killing six men, captured rifles and ammunition.

An Arab undercover organization, operating with regular military divisions and courts, was brought to the surface today with discovery of the bodies of two Arabs, executed near Tulkarem, following their conviction of treason.

A note attached to the clothing of the victims said they had been shot in accordance with the verdict of an Arab court-martial.

ENJOYING BAND CONCERT — A large crowd gathered in Beacon Hill Park yesterday afternoon to hear the Canadian Scottish Band give a program. These Sunday afternoon programs are always well attended and greatly enjoyed.

Contrasting Notes At Corps Reunion

Veterans at Church Services in Toronto; Street Revelry at Other Times

TORONTO (CP) — Revelry, reverence and concern for the economic and social well-being of Canada were three distinct and contrasting notes struck by the Canadian Corps Reunion today against the sounding board of an admiring and tolerant city.

Revelry was most in evidence to the casual observer on downtown Toronto streets and in it the citizenry at large, business men and police joined. Nothing was too good for the old soldiers.

Traffic was tied in knots by the pranks of men whose self-consciousness disappeared in the jollity brought about by reunion with their fellow combatants in the Great War.

Tragedy entered the great gathering also. Two of the celebrants—Owen Joseph Callen, 38, Hamilton, Ont., and a man identified as J. Fraser—were killed when an automobile struck a street car on a downtown street. Grayden McRae, 38-year-old policeman, driving the automobile, and Albert Knight, 45, were injured seriously.

TAKEN TO HOSPITALS

Eighteen revellers were injured Saturday night and early Sunday by motor cars. Ten of them were admitted to hospitals with fractured legs and arms. St. Michael's Hospital in downtown Toronto reported 64 persons treated for injuries ranging from fractured skulls and broken limbs to cut fingers.

Hotels were a bedlam Saturday night. Beer was freely consumed on the streets. Street cars were rocked on their wheels and trolley poles pulled off the wires.

Motorists who ventured through the area made slow progress. Gangs of men lifted cars bodily, turned them around or placed them on sidewalks.

BONFIRES IN STREET

In the vast religious services yesterday, the drumhead service at Riverdale Park and the military mass for Catholic veterans at Varsity Stadium, the note of reverence sounded in a volume which all but drowned out the revelry and the nonsense of the night before.

It sounded at every formal gathering of the troops, in the service at the Cross of Sacrifice in Prospect Cemetery, where the veterans prepared to honor 2,100 comrades who lie beneath the sod, and in ceremonies at the Cenotaph Saturday when Prime Minister King formally opened the reunion.

The Riverdale Park service was second only to the corps parade on Saturday as a demonstration of the numerical strength of the reunion and it was perhaps the most largely-attended religious service held in Toronto for many a year.

In the great natural amphitheatre in the valley of the Don River some 150,000 people heard Archdeacon F. G. Scott of Quebec, beloved padre of the Canadian forces in France, preach on the text, "Where there is no vision the people perish."

The veterans paraded in the park in their unit formations and formed up by divisions on the level space at the bottom of the valley.

RESOLUTIONS PASSED

In resolutions approved at dozens of reunion dinners Saturday night and cheers accorded a speech by Major G. R. M. Dingle, president of the Canadian Corps Association, the veterans made known their determination to serve Canada as citizens in peacetime as they served as soldiers in wartime.

Although Major Dingle described the resolutions as non-political, they dealt with public policy and they were read in the presence of Prime Minister King and Hon. C. G. Power. Hon. R. J. Manion, Conservative leader, also was present.

Besides affirming Democratic principles, the resolutions condemned political expediency and sectionalism, urged immigration laws which would insure a predominance of British stock in Canadian citizenry, deportation of aliens who do not elect to become naturalized within one year of their arrival, unemployment and health insurance, amendments to the British North America Act, close co-operation with the rest of the Empire in defence matters and immediate attention to the welfare, pensions, employment and hospitalization problems of ex-servicemen.

Fraser Valley Fires Are Fought

Little Promise of Rain as Crews Battle Outbreaks in Forests

VANCOUVER (CP) — Forest officials today turned their attention towards the Fraser Valley as a 1,000-acre outbreak raged unchecked through felled and bucked timber and the sky gave little promise of rain.

The blaze, which started last week, reached a critical stage over the week-end, when winds whipped it through 750,000 feet of timber owned by the J. L. Brown Logging Company.

It was fought by a crew of 175 men, but its spread menaced Japanese families on Rawleigh Lake and they were forced to evacuate their homes.

A fire on the Vedder River and one near Harrison Lake also required constant attention.

In the Kootenay district two blazes were whipped by high winds past fireguards. Rangers, able to control one, said the other would be checked soon.

ISLAND FIRE

The Vancouver Island outbreak was considered in "excellent shape" on the north end, but rangers continued to watch it closely near Bevan.

Slight relief was given battlers Saturday when about a half-inch of rain fell, but hot dry weather prevailed Sunday.

Peat fires in Richmond municipality, near Vancouver, flared into new life Sunday, spreading a pall of smoke over the southern sky. In Vancouver city firemen were kept busy watching sudden bush fire outbreaks.

Cariboo reports said the situation there had been eased somewhat Saturday by light rains.

CULT LEADER IS KILLED IN CRASH

NEW YORK (AP)—The spiritual and earthly legacy of Sufi Abdul Hamid, Harlem cult leader, passed today into the hands of his wife, Mme. Fufutam.

Leaders of the Universal Holy Temple of Tranquillity believed Harlem was about to have its first black prophetess.

Sufi Abdul Hamid, believed by his flock to have been born in the shadow of an Egyptian pyramid, but known to police only as Eugene Brown, born in Philadelphia, was killed yesterday when his airplane ran out of gasoline and crashed on Long Island. Fred Burkhardt, his white pilot, died, and Catherine Price, his white secretary, was seriously injured.

Last night Hamid's flock gathered in a room of the temple and a ceremony smacking of Buddhism was performed.

Two Labor Groups In Britain Co-operate

LETCHWORTH, Eng. (CP-Havas) — The national council of the Independent Labor Party, meeting here today under the presidency of James Maxton, voted to accept the bid of the Labor Party for co-operation between the two groups.

The Independent Labor Party stands for more direct and definite action than the regular labor group, to assure "socialism in our time."

Negotiations with the Labor party will be carried out in conformity with terms of a resolution on the subject adopted at the annual convention of the Independents.

HEPBURN MAY VISIT VICTORIA

Ontario Premier, in Vancouver, Says Plans Indefinite

VANCOUVER (CP)—Premier Mitchell Hepburn of Ontario strode off a coast steamer from Alaska and Prince Rupert here today and waved a souvenir Indian canoe paddle jestingly at reporters.

"They ganged up on me at Edmonton and practically forced me to talk, but I'm not commenting on anything here," he said. But then came a question as to what he would have done when single unemployed occupied the post office here in a month-long "sit-down" strike.

"They would soon have been sitting down somewhere else," he grinned.

TALKS WITH MAYOR

Mr. Hepburn, accompanied by Bernard E. Smith, New York broker, on the trip from the north, was met at a downtown hotel by Mayor George Miller. To a question regarding possibility of his flying to Victoria and visiting Premier T. D. Pattullo he replied:

"Perhaps, but I don't know what I may do here. I think we may spend a few days at Mr. Smith's place on Gun Lake.

Gun Lake is about 120 miles northeast of Vancouver in the Lillooet district.

The Premier and Mr. Smith decided to make the trip to Vancouver by ship after their plane had been grounded at Carcross, Y.T., last Wednesday by bad weather.

The pilot, Jimmy Towne, and another member of the party, J. P. Nickel of Toronto, stayed with the aircraft and flew here Friday by an inland route.

Spain Rebels In Counter-attack

HENDAYE, France (AP) — Spanish insurgents launched a counter-offensive today on the southern end of the Catalan front in an attempt to cross the Ebro River near its delta and outflank government forces driving on Gandesa.

This is the only point where the insurgents were able to nip the militiamen's initial attack before it gained headway last Monday.

It was believed the government's weakness in that sector was due to removal of many troops to the north for the campaign against Gandesa, insurgent headquarters for the Catalan front.

Gen. Franco's forces prepared the way for their counter-offensive by lengthy artillery fire from heavy batteries south of Cherta.

in keeping the bow heading into the heavy swells.

"We drifted for two hours and before darkness enveloped us we were within about three miles of Port Angeles and could easily distinguish the blinking of Ediz Hook light.

KEPT BAILING

"How we got across I do not know. Three times the boat filled with water as the seas flopped over us. Mrs. Tom and the boys kept busy bailing. I used the painter to tie the kids to the boat to prevent them from being washed overboard.

"By daybreak next morning we had drifted back again to within a few miles of Race Rocks, but our hopes were dashed when we realized the boat was being carried out toward the entrance to the Straits.

"We drift out to sea and at one time were off Cape Flattery.

"I had a stock of flour, bread and spuds in the boat, but it was so drenched with salt water that it was useless to eat.

"I tried a bit of bread, but it was too salty to stomach. We had no water and we were thirsty. He had few clothes on our backs. Most of the clothing, food, blankes, axes and flashlights had been washed away.

PASSED BY SHIPS

"Day after day as we drifted helplessly with the tide we were passed by ocean steamers heading in and out of the stairts, but they thought we were waving at them and they kept their course. I recognized the Restorer passing in from sea, but she was too far away to sight us. Other ships were closer in, but they did not respond to signals.

FELL OVERBOARD

"I fell overboard once when I was trying to rig a blanket as a sail off Sheringham Point and Mrs. Tom pulled me back. I was so exhausted that I passed out completely three times. She revived me by wrapping me in her coat and rubbing my back with her knuckles, as the Kyuquot Indians do.

"When it seemed the waves would swamp us, Mrs. Tom knelt in the bottom of the boat and with raised arms she chanted Indian prayers. I told her I didn't think it would do much good. Both the boys followed the example of their mother and began to pray, too. I have been thinking about it a lot since and I think there must be something to it, because every time Mrs. Tom prayed the waves seemed to quieten down.

"The two boys were very plucky. They fully realized the danger and were wet through, but they did not whimper.

"Moses said: 'Do you think we shall get through it, Danny?'

"Norman said: 'Gol darn it, I think we are done for!'

"I had to tell them that I thought our chances were slim. On the average we drifted I should say about five miles an hour and when the tide-rip caught us the boat spun around like a top.

"At times the waves seemed to be as high as the Sooke Hills. As the pounding kept up a crack developed in the planking on the port side and I had to plug it with a sheet.

"We had but three inches of freeboard and the waves went right over our heads. Mrs. Tom was hanging onto a seat when one comber hit us and the seat was pulled out from its socket.

"We lost all track of time as we were thrown about by the seas.

WELCOME RESCUE

"We had drifted back off Neah Bay and the coastguard plane passed over us before we were picked up by the Welcome off Crescent Bay on Saturday morning.

"It sure was the most welcome sight to me. The master of the seiner could not do enough for us. We were all starved and blue with cold. He prepared food for us—eggs, doughnuts and hot coffee. I was so hungry that I ate five eggs without taking a breath.

"We were turned over to the Neah Bay coastguard and after being rigged with dry clothing we were driven by truck to Port Angeles, where we boarded the Olympic for Victoria.

"I wouldn't go through that again for $1,000. I never want to see a boat again."

Only brief newspaper reports of the incident were published," however. There was no specific editorial comment except in the army organ, Red Star.

The dispatches gave a realistic note of Anti-war Day today—the 24th anniversary of Germany's declaration of war on Russia. Newspapers and radios charged that Italy, Germany and Japan were fomenting a new war.

"Fascists are organizing provocations on our borders," the Red Star asserted. "The insolent provocation of the Japanese reported by Tass (official government news agency) is one link in a chain of preparation for war against the Soviet Union. . . .

"We know that victory for the red army is certain because it is the most powerful army in the world."

CALLED AGGRESSORS

Both Pravda, Communist Party organ, and Izvestia, government newspaper, called Rome, Berlin and Tokio "a bloc of aggressors."

Pravda, after charging the Fascist general staffs were "intensively preparing an attack on the Soviet Union," declared:

"The Fascist bandits will not catch the Soviet people unprepared. The imperialist robbers . . . will be mercilessly destroyed on their own territory."

FIFTY PLANES IN RAID

HSINKING, Manchukuo (AP) —The Japanese army announced Monday 50 Soviet planes inflicted slight damage on railways in an afternoon raid on Changkufeng and vicinity in the disputed border region.

It said four Soviet aircraft were brought down in Korean territory, while one was believed down in Manchukuo after the raiders had dropped nearly 30 bombs.

The zone reported bombed is near the junction of the borders of Japanese Korea, Manchukuo and Russian Siberia, in the vicinity of Yuki and Chinghsin, in extreme northeastern Korea.

The announcement said the raid was made between 12.30 and 3.30 p.m. (between 7.30 and 10.30 Sunday night, P.S.T.).

It added the Japanese used only anti-aircraft fire as they were too near the border to use defensive planes.

TO SAVE FACE

Army circles said they took a serious view of the attack, but charged the incident was only a "face-saving" step on the part of the Russians.

They said the Soviet forces were seeking to counter the loss of Changkufeng Hill and other positions in the area which Japanese reported they had taken Sunday.

Japan and Manchukuo claim the hill region is within Manchukuo, while Soviet Russia says it is in her territory.

Army circles said that except for the bombing raid the border was quiet Monday.

"If the Russians really meant business," one official said, "they would have bombed the vital railway bridge near Yuki. It was untouched in today's raid, which was concentrated on minor railway bridges and damage was slight."

There was no indication whether there were any Japanese casualties.

Dispatches said that news of the flare-up of bitter differences between Russia and Japan had surprised Tokio, because both the Russian and Japanese governments had recently indicated only diplomatic means would be used to settle the dispute.

TWO KILLED IN CRASH

AVENAL, Calif. (AP)—Pilot William Downs of Avenal remained in a critical condition today as authorities investigated the cause of an airplane crash last night in which his two women passengers were killed. Mrs. Thomas Hutchinson, 35, and Mrs. Faye Downs, 21, both of Avenal, lost their lives.

Violent Deaths In Canada 41

TORONTO (CP) — Forty-one persons met violent death in Canada Saturday and Sunday. Sixteen persons died in Ontario, 17 in Quebec, four in Nova Scotia and one each in New Brunswick, Alberta and British Columbia.

A note of tragedy was discernible under the surface gaiety of Canadian Corps Reunion celebrations in Toronto today, last day of the great get-together "20 years after." Two of the 100,000 Great War veterans participating and another who had planned to attend died in week-end motor accidents. More than a score were in hospitals.

Warm, sultry weather that prevailed in Ontario and Quebec contributed to the heaviest week-end death toll this year. The previous record for 1938 was set at the last preceding week-end, when 27 persons died in accidents throughout the Dominion.

Seventeen persons died in motor-car accidents, as many others drowned seeking relief from hot weather and six met death in other forms.

Particularly tragic were the deaths in Toronto of Owen J. Callen, 38, and J. Fraser. Both were war veterans leaving the scene of reunion to catch a train. The car in which they rode crashed broadside into a street car Saturday night.

Robert Thomson, 44, agricultural instructor at the Ohsweken Indian Reserve near Brantford, Ont., left that Ontario city late Saturday night to attend the Toronto reunion. He was killed when the motorcar in which he was riding collided with a bus a few miles west of Hamilton.

Ten-year-old Betty Craigen drowned in Gull Lake near Red Deer, Alta.

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. Big Crowd Sees Highland Games

Dancing, Piping and Track and Field Events Included on Day-long Program

With dancing lads and lassies resplendent in their brilliant Highland costumes, the skirl of pipes wailing to the four winds, brawny Highlanders tossing the caber and other track and field performers flashing over the turf, Victoria's inaugural Highland Games were presented in colorful pageantry Saturday in spacious Macdonald Park.

The 10-hour program was highly successful in all its phases. It was easily the best ever presented here and holds promise of being the highlight annual event in this city in future years.

By midafternoon, the spectators, estimated at 2,000, had packed the grandstand to capacity and stood five deep against the ropes strung out in front of the grandstand.

The area in front of the grandstand was a sea of shifting color all day as scores of kilted dancers, pipers, drummers and officials moved to and fro, but to add still more color to the surroundings, red, white and blue bunting was used profusely.

"MISS VICTORIA" PRESENT

Three charming young ladies, Miss Kay White, who was recently crowned "Miss Victoria," and her two attendants, Miss Jean Wilson and Miss Doreen McGregor, were in attendance for the greater part of the afternoon and were seated under a large yellow, green and maroon parasol, facing the spectators.

Although the games opened in the morning at 10.30 with dancing and piping, they were not officially opened until 3.15 by Premier T. D. Pattullo, who was accompanied by Hon. James A. Farley, Postmaster-General of the United States. They were piped in by the 16 members of the Seattle Pipe Band, who were resplendent in the Mackenzie tartan. Pipe-Major Donald Cameron of the 2nd Battalion of the Canadian Scottish, one-time piper to Queen Victoria at Balmoral Castle, had the honor of piping in Vice-Admiral Sir Sidney Julius Meyrick and Lady Meyrick.

Colonel Ross Napier, chieftain for the day, and Duncan MacBride, president of the Highland Games Association, greeted all distinguished guests of honor. Col. Napier wore the Napier tartan and Mr. MacBride the MacGillivray tartan.

After introducing Mr. Farley, who received enthusiastic applause, Mr. Pattullo spoke of his visit to Seattle where he attended the Potlatch of Progress, and said that he had been asked by the Mayor of Seattle as well as mayors of other Washington cities to convey greetings to the people of British Columbia. They hoped good relations would continue.

After declaring the games officially opened, the Premier was introduced to "Miss Victoria" and her attendants.

COLORFUL MARCH-PAST

One hundred pipers and drummers took part in a colorful march-past after Premier Pattullo had taken his seat in the grandstand and were accorded hearty applause from the spectators.

There was a record representation of 15 clan tartans at the games and there was a unprecedented number of pipe bands present. Three bands were from Vancouver, one from Seattle and Vernon and the local Canadian Scottish band.

Seventy dancers were present and 20 individual pipers from Saskatchewan, British Columbia and Washington. Oldest exponent of the Highland dance was William Anderson, senior of all Highland dancers in Canada, who was presented with a life membership in the association by Mr. MacBride. The youngest competitor was Billy Smith, a four-year-old from North Burnaby.

The following made up the reception committee: T. W. Hawkins, chairman; Lieut.-Col. J. R. Kingham, Lt.-Col. Walter Bapty, Lieut.-Col. F. A. Lindsay, Capt. R. W. McMurray, William Auckland, W. A. Jameson and George Macbeth.

Col. Ross Napier, Duncan MacBride, were chieftain and president, respectively, while J. C. Dowds was secretary. Reception committee for the competitors was composed of J. Grant, Miss MacDonald, Mrs. J. McKay, G. Spence Matthews, Dr. W. R. Gunn and G. Stuart, and others in charge of various features of the day-long games were J. MacDonald, Mrs. Finlayson, D. Bain, J. Dewar, Capt. W. Wilson, J. McKay, F. Finlayson, Mrs. Ball, E. M. Whyte, A. Manson, A. Cameron, C. Morton, J. Baxter, A. McDonald, R. Noble, D. McCaig, J. R. Marrs, A. Hall, R. Watt, W. Angus, T. Crowds Witness Beating Retreat

Casting long shadows on the green lawns as the sun set over the Sooke Hills, the Royal Marine Band of H.M.S. York beat a retreat between 7 and 7.30 Saturday evening on the lawn of the Empress Hotel while a large crowd of people watched from the Causeway.

It was a most impressive spectacle as the blue-clad men from the York performed a series of intricate manoeuvres.

"La reine de Saba" was sounded as a fanfare and other numbers played were "Standard of St. George," "Sunset," "Old Panama," "The Drill Squad," "A Life on the Ocean Wave," "Les Huguenots," "Sons of the Brave" and "Hearts of Oak."

Dunning Visits P.E.I.

OTTAWA (CP)—Hon. Charles Dunning, Minister of Finance, and Mrs. Dunning left today for Prince Edward Island, where they will remain possibly for a few weeks. Mr. Dunning has been slowly recovering from the collapse he suffered in the Parliament Buildings five weeks ago, and his doctor pronounced him sufficiently improved to undertake the train journey.

It is hoped the sea bathing and salt air will speed his recovery and Mr. Dunning will then finally decide whether he will again take up the exacting duties of Finance Minister or retire.

Girl Drowns In Kootenay Lake

NELSON, B.C. (CP)—Margaret McCallum, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don McCallum of Trail, was drowned yesterday while swimming in Kootenay Lake, 10 miles west of here.

British Columbia police said the girl apparently got into difficulty after swimming out from shore. Her brother, John, plunged in fully clothed, but was unable to rescue his sister.

Two fishermen later recovered the body.

SUICIDE IN CHURCH

MONTREAL (CP) — Omer Auclair, 52, retired Montreal police sergeant, was found yesterday at the foot of the altar in north-end St. Arsene Church with a bullet wound in the head and two in the body. He died in a hospital shortly after. There were no witnesses to the actual shooting, police reported, but the victim had been seated shortly before in a pew at the front of the church.

UNDER TERRIFIC IMPACT, STRESS, WEAR, NICKEL ALLOYS STAND UP!

"FISHING" for a broken drill pipe a few hundred feet down in the ground was a nerve-wracking job, with the whole crew standing idle. To prevent costly breakages, oil men have learned to take advantage of strong, tough Nickel Alloys.

Today, Nickel Steel cutters bite through the solid rock. Nickel Steel bit bodies stand up under constant shock and stress. Travelling blocks of Nickel Steel lift thousands of feet of drill stem weighing 100 tons or more to the surface. All parts subject to unusual strain, abrasion or corrosion are of Nickel Alloys.

And in the refineries, where metals must operate at temperatures ranging from 70 degrees below zero to 2000 degrees above, at pressures up to 3000 pounds per square inch, and often under extremely corrosive conditions, Nickel Alloys are indispensable.

In opening up oil fields throughout the world, Canadian drillers have been the key men. Canadian Nickel has gone with them to speed their work and reduce overhead.

Nickel ore, lying dormant beneath Canada's Sudbury Basin, brings no wealth to Canada. But the mining, smelting and refining of this ore provides employment, directly and indirectly for thousands of Canadians. The sale of Nickel for peaceful industry the world over, brings a vast measure of prosperity to Canada.

The Good Neighbors

IT IS NOT NEW FOR US TO ARGUE that the model of good neighborliness which Canada's relations with the United States demonstrate to the world at large is one that other nations might well emulate. It is to the point, however, that such distinguished representatives of official life in the neighboring republic as Hon. James A. Farley, Postmaster-General in the cabinet of President Roosevelt, should emphasize on every conceivable occasion the significance and permanence of this eminently satisfactory condition.

In his admirable speech before the Canadian Club on Saturday it was only natural that Mr. Farley, occupying as he does a high office of state at Washington, was obliged to limit his discussion of topics in which his country and Canada are vitally interested. Nevertheless, his observations on such matters as the salmon fishing industry and the various problems with which the international fisheries are confronted, on the proposed highway from the neighboring State of Washington through British Columbia to Alaska, and on the progress of trade negotiations were especially interesting. They reflected both Mr. Farley's intimate understanding of these subjects and his personal desire for the continuance of co-operative programs which will insure mutual benefit.

Canada as a whole, of course, is anxious for the speeding up of the trading machinery between the Dominion and the United States. At the present time the value of the exchange of commodities is approximately $860,000,000, $13,500,000 less than a year ago, but still $500,000,000 short of the total value of the trading account of 1930. As Mr. Farley very properly pointed out in the course of his address, negotiations now proceeding "transcend all others in importance for our two countries," and he followed with this:

"When our first trade agreement was signed on November 15, 1935, I think we all realized how important a step we were taking. Adjustment to the new position was, on the whole, easy, and it seems a little strange to us now that, living side by side in peace for a century and a quarter, we should have been so long in providing a firm contractual basis for our commercial relations.

"Although long delayed, we made a good beginning in 1935, and I think the individuals are few and far between who doubt that the agreement now in force had operated to the real advantage of both countries.

"Although we have just cause to be gratified with that agreement, it is significant that neither of us has been content to lean back and view our handiwork with complacency. Rather, we have rightly regarded the 1935 agreement not as a red stop light, but as a green light beckoning us forward."

Mr. Farley's natural candor would not permit him to ignore the fact that the economic trends of the past year had clouded the atmosphere somewhat. In the account between the two countries Canada has suffered differently from her neighbor. Although the total turnover, as shown in the latest available figures, is $13,500,000 less than a year ago, Canada's purchases from the United States has increased by just a little less than $60,000,000, but her sales have dropped in the same period by $73,000,000. It is satisfactory to note, of course, that in the last 10 years the tourist invasion of this country by visitors from the United States has more than made up for an adverse trading balance in terms of commodity exchange. Canada's sale of nonmonetary gold bullion likewise has further added to the credit account of this country with its neighbor.

The visit of Postmaster-General Farley, following within a few months that of President Roosevelt, cannot fail to have a beneficial effect on the general relations between the two branches of the English-speaking nations. These personal interchanges, furnishing as they do much better opportunity for the unofficial but intimate examination of matters in which both countries have a direct concern, also stand out as the practical reminder to the world that Canada and the United States still are getting along with one another on the most friendly terms.

A 12-word Speech

TO MR. AUGUSTUS JOHN, THE famous British portrait painter, fell the other day the duty of performing the opening ceremonial of an exhibition of German art. His speech consisted of these 12 words: "Ladies and gentlemen, I have great pleasure in declaring this exhibition open."

If there were any really serious Nazi adherents present they could hardly have been disappointed by Mr. John's humane gesture, because the harangues of Reichsfuehrer Hitler have now developed into something like endurance tests. The speech was a model one, moreover, which might well be studied by public men. Unlike those to whose lot such formal ceremonies sometimes fall, Mr. John might reasonably have claimed the right to say what he thought of the business in hand, because his words would be his own and his opinions worth while. Too often it is the case that orators make up in length what they lack in depth.

It may not be too much to say that life would be much pleasanter—especially for the average reporter—if speeches were limited to such observations as speakers felt they had to make, and not such as they thought they were expected to make. But platitudes to some take on the merit of a mental stimulant; by others they are endured with resignation.

Counting Our Assets

IT IS NOT TOO MUCH TO SAY THAT THE growth of the national park idea in Canada, the conservation of outstanding scenic regions and the preservation of wild life within their boundaries, has been one of the most interesting developments of the last century. More than ever before is the value of conservation being emphasized, and arising out of this has been the development and expansion of the Dominion's magnificent system of national parks—which includes 18 units with a combined area of more than 2,000 square miles.

Not everybody is familiar with even the names of these scenic and recreational parks or the localities in which they are to be found. For general information it is worth while to note that they include Banff, Jasper, and Waterton Lakes, in Alberta; Yoho, Kootenay, Glacier and Mount Revelstoke, in British Columbia; Prince Albert, in Saskatchewan; Riding Mountain, in Manitoba; and Point Pelee, Georgian Bay Islands and St. Lawrence Islands Parks, in Ontario. Fort Anne, in Nova Scotia, and Fort Beausejour, in New Brunswick, are national historic parks, and Buffalo, Elk Island, Nemiskam and Wawaskesy parks in Alberta form sanctuaries for such interesting wild life species as the buffalo, elk, and prong-horned antelope.

Taking into account the scope, the variety and the steadily widening renown of Canada's scenic and other attractions, there is ample ground for the view that these natural assets will prove to be one of the major forces of Canadian recreational industries. Fortunately for this country's general business, all governments—municipal, provincial and federal—as well as the public and commercial leaders as a whole are now fully alive to the enormous value of the annual dividends which the Dominion's ever-growing "tourism" returns. Last year's $300,000,000 turnover was within nodding distance of the peak reached in 1929. The turnover this year ought easily to establish a new record.

Hitler and Modern Art

HITLER'S OFFICIAL HARASSMENT OF artists whose works he does not like is a sad enough thing in itself, but equally sad is the reaction his ridicule is certain to have among persons to whom Nazi-ism is anathema. Modern art, like women's hats, is always fair game, and when Hitler criticizes "the fanatics of color" and the "experimenting daubers" in cubism, futurism and dadaism, the air fills with jolly democratic laughs and remarks to the effect that however fanatical Hitler may be on some issues, he is quite sane in his reactions to modern art.

But to keep things straight, we should remember that all artists who have anything to contribute to the development of their art are in some measure experimenters; that many great artists derived their greatness from the fact that they were "fanatics of color"; and that yesterday's artistic radicals are tomorrow's conservatives.

As a footnote-comment on the "purely artistic" nature of Der Fuehrer's motives, may we add that scarcely any of the 400 banned German paintings now on exhibition in London have any evidence in them at all of futurism, cubism, dadaism, or extreme modernism of any kind.

England now has a post office on wheels, but the letter paper continues to be stationery.

It was a happy inspiration on the part of Mr. John Cochrane several weeks ago that led to Mr. Farley being invited to Victoria as the guest of the Canadian Club during his Pacific coast trip. Another fine international gesture resulted. Mr. Farley's visit here over the week-end, with his address the only one he will deliver during his trip across Canada, will redound to the prestige of the local Canadian Club. The reception accorded the American political leader, second in power in his country only to President Roosevelt, was in the best tradition of Victoria as host to prominent men.

THE LAND OF ROAST YOUNG GOOSE

From Toronto Star

The usual external mind-picture of Czechoslovakia is vague. We are told about the Slavs and the Maygars, the Poles and the Germans who make up its heterogeneous population. But, disregarding racial origins, what is the country really like, and its people?

The August issue of Fortune has an excellent human-interest article on Czechoslovakia, answering some of the questions many must have asked. Physically, it says, the country, mountainous from east to west, is one of the most beautiful in Europe. So at least, for all their worries, its citizens have a lovely land in which to dwell. As for its capital, Praha or Prague, it is the hometown of "Good King Wenceslaus" of Christmas carol fame. It is also the scene of the Golem and other medieval Jewish legends. Praha is famous, right up to today, for its food and especially its coffee, sausages and ham.

In the country districts the roads are filled with goats, dogs and geese. Czechs, it is claimed, raise the finest geese in the world. No Czech peasant is too poor to have a down feather-bed for every member of the family and roast young goose is the national dish.

If only war can be averted there is much to envy in the lot of these simple yet intelligent folk. But if war comes all the delights of scenery and of food, all the joys of contented family life, will be obliterated in one vast doom.

Loose Ends

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

THESE AMERICANS

MR. WICKHAM STEED, England's leading journalistic pundit, recently made a speech in which he said that the chief difficulty in bringing Britain and the United States together was that no British government and practically no British statesman had yet learned to think American. And he said it was time British statesmen learned that the United States would never base its foreign policy on the needs and the desires of Great Britain, any more than Britain had ever pleased anybody but itself in fixing its policies.

This is an obvious fact, generally overlooked. We British always have a hidden resentment against the Americans because they don't think precisely as we do. Hidden deep in our subconscious is the notion that, if they were well-bred, they would accept our ideas, knowing they were better than their own. Deep down we still think of the Americans as a junior branch of the family when, quite obviously, they are now a different race, not 50 per cent Anglo-Saxon. We are only 50 per cent Anglo-Saxon in Canada.

Mr. Steed once said to me here in Victoria years ago that Britain's great mistake was in trying to keep up the fiction that the Americans were like Britishers. This, said he, is a grave cause of irritation.

Now with the French, we know that they are different. We don't object to a Frenchman being noisy and violent. We don't mind him crying or even kissing his uncle or mentioning matters that we consider unmentionable. But if an American eats his peas with a knife or talks loudly or pronounces his words different from us, we are immediately annoyed. We feel that he should act as we do, that somehow, if he doesn't, he is letting us down. Younger Canadians don't find these circumstances so annoying, of course, because they are becoming more American every day and you can hardly tell them apart, but it worries us older folks.

If we would only make up our minds, if Britain would only make up its mind, that the Americans are a different people, in no way obligated to accept our ideals, our table manners, we would all get along a lot better. So long as British governments feel that the United States is under some vague obligation to them for the blessing of life, for the heritage of a common language, it will be difficult to pull together. Fortunately Englishmen, led by men like Steed, are finding that out. They are reconciling themselves to the fact that George Washington did win the Revolution after all.

"EXCLUSIVE" GRAMERCY PARK

NEW YORK.

THE FOUR HUNDRED—or what remnant is left of them—may live on Park Avenue, Sutton Place and in terraced flats along the river.

But for sheer Ritz and exclusiveness, Manhattan claims that sealed-in rectangle known as Gramercy Park. Situated just south of the business hurly-burly, shadowed on four sides by towering apartment houses, Gramercy Park remains impregnable to rude intruders.

None but those living in the immediate vicinity of the Park are allowed entrance, and even they need a "Pass One (1) O.K." from the proper authorities. Perhaps they take a blueblood test for the privilege.

An ancient gateman guards the path to the park, which is entirely surrounded by a high, iron grille fence, and he has a vigilant eye for strangers. He lets no one in but those who can show the proper credentials. Somewhat like the sentry at Buckingham Palace.

Legend of the park has it that the key the gateman treasures is the original brass one handed down by Samuel Ruggles, an old land-owning gentleman who gave the park land to the city. But with the stipulation that the grounds were to be kept elite.

They have been. Nowadays, from dawn until afternoon, the park is occupied by governesses keeping a watchful eye over the dainty progeny of their employers. The kids don't seem to be having much fun in the exclusive area and it is true that they are considerably disturbed by the hoot and catcall of their less exclusive playmates on the other side of the iron grille.

This haughty, horticultural spot recently was the target of a magazine cartoon. The picture showed a Gramercy Park moppet, rolling in the ground, sampling mouthfuls of the good, rich earth while his governess looked on in frozen horror.

"It's all right, lady," the ground keeper consoled her, "park dirt, y'know."

WHY MURRAY HILL?

NOT FAR from Gramercy Park, they've just been getting around to commemorating the memory of the First Lady of Murray Hill.

The Mary Murray Room in one of the neighborhood hotels certifies to the Old Colonial origins of the vicinity. And hails her as one of the earliest Daughters of the American Revolution.

For it was on Mrs. Murray's farm that the British officers were detained at tea while General Washington beat a hasty retreat with the entire Colonial Army.

They called the section Murray Hill in honor of the heroic housewife, and now, treat from a trap that would have wiped out where formerly tea was served to George III's generals, literary folk assemble with their publishers for cocktails.—G.R.

THIEVES THAT ARE THIEVES

Blood relatives of the fellow who would steal a red-hot stove were thieves in Tokio, Japan, who, when the city was recently plunged in darkness for an air raid drill, stole 38 manhole covers from a new street under construction.

Problem in Spain

From Cavalcade, London

Feared by Chamberlain's advisers is a general deterioration of the European situation during August and September which will founder the Anglo-Italian agreement, completely wreck the Chamberlain policy of appeasement.

This is precisely what supporters of ex-Foreign Secretary Robert Anthony Eden expect will happen. It is also what Adolf Hitler and his advisers hope will happen. They have always known that the Anglo-Italian agreement was aimed at the Berlin-Rome axis, have tried to prevent the agreement coming into operation by all the means in their power.

One powerful weapon they have used is prolongation of the Spanish war. Reporting to the Prime Minister on his return from Burgos, Sir Robert Hodgson, the British Agent at General Franco's headquarters, had to admit that German technicians and organizers were almost in full control of the Franco administration, while Italian troops were kept in the background and were anxious to return home.

To the British Government the penetration of the Germans into Spain is something which cannot be overcome by the oft-repeated view—it has become a hope—that eventually the Spaniards will become ultra-nationalistic and throw their foreign allies out of the country.

It is not doubted that Benito Mussolini, finding the cost of maintaining men in Spain and men in Abyssinia too great, would like to liquidate his responsibilities, but is unable to do so because he, too, cannot afford to let the Germans have it all their own way in Spain.

MACHINE VS. LABOR

To the Editor:—I read with interest your quotation from the Ottawa Journal on "Making Work Where None Was Before." I think publication of such information will have a greater tendency to raise the morale of the working man than anything else.

I have worked in the logging industry since 1906, and at steam engineering, as locomotive engineer, since 1912, until this last January. It is the cry of the labor press that the "machine age" is displacing labor; also, the average man on the street thinks that the machine age is causing unemployment.

I have always reasoned that the machine gave more employment than it ever displaced from the mines, manufacture, repair, display, etc.

Hoping to see more data of this sort.

COWICHAN BAY PROTEST

To the Editor:—On July 20 you published an article by Bruce Hutchison re "Hypocrisy." Your paper does not contain half enough of the same. The powers that be engaged political followers to form a tourist bureau, which issued a strip map of the island. This map advocated "camps" and ignored the hotels (taxpayers) in their 1937 work, thus helping to cause fires. One bunk house, which was then only half built, was mentioned in this district. Now another man and a chauffeur are hired to order the resort hotels to take down their signs within 3 days. This hotel also is ignored by the "work" of the road department and bumps is their contribution to our approach; also, loose gravel on the incline turn. The property in front of hotel, which was sold to straighten the Buena Vista hill and lower the grade, is now used as a dump for dirt scraped off another road and forms an eyesore to guests of the hotel, the biggest local taxpayer, paying 2% more taxes than city hotels not 7 miles away, according to the number of rooms. Talk about hipocrisy. There are now two departments fighting to put hotels out of business.

RED CROSS ON THE JOB

To the Editor: — As I have heard the Canadian Red Cross Society, B.C. Division, criticized for not being in action in connection with the disastrous fire in the Campbell River Courtenay area, I would like it to be known that on the first indication the fire was likely to assume disastrous proportions, the Deputy Provincial Secretary, Mr. Walker, was advised that the Disaster Relief Committee of the Canadian Red Cross Society was fully organized and prepared for immediate service in connection with the relief of sufferers and refugees from the burnt-out area. Apparently the provincial authorities did not consider that the services of the Red Cross were necessary as the division was not called upon, although held in readiness for instant action.

Officials of the Red Cross visited the stricken area and consulted the mayor and other municipal and provincial authorities as to the necessity of the Red Cross rendering assistance to the fire victims. They were assured, however, that while they did not consider the assistance of the Red Cross was necessary at that time, our society would be the first called upon should matters take a more serious turn.

The Provincial Red Cross Disaster Relief Committee is at all times ready for service in any part of the province where its assistance is requested by provincial or local authorities.

THAT HEN-EGG PROBLEM

To the Editor:—In Saturday's issue, your correspondent, Bernard C. Crawford, propounds the following and asks for the correct answer. "If a hen and a half laid an egg and a half in a day and a half, how many eggs would six hens lay in a week?" The answer is 28; a hen and a half laid an egg a day, three hens laid two eggs a day and six laid four.

Here is another: A turkey weighed seven pounds and half its weight, what did the turkey weigh?

A THEORY IS UPSET

From St. Catharine's Standard

A society for the "Prevention of Married Men Posing as Bachelors" has been formed by the fair sex of Oklahoma City. The object is to enforce a rule that benedicts must wear wedding rings and the fair president of the organization says: "Most of the girls I know don't have much time to waste. We need to know right off whether a man is married or not." This seems to dispose of an old-time theory that it is easy to spot them by a somewhat subdued look.

"The task of providing jobs to the existing labor surplus preimposes an investment by private industry that would be no less than $25,000,000,000." — Lammot du Pont.

Last year the libraries of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, one in Winnipeg and one in Toronto, loaned 26,385 books in Braille to Canadian blind readers. The 23,000 volumes on the shelves of these libraries embrace fiction, drama, biography, science, poetry, travel, history, education, religion and music. The Toronto library is the only depot in Canada for the distribution of books in recorded form commonly referred to as "Talking Books." Last year 2,700 books in this form were loaned to Canadian blind readers. There are now over 100 blind people in Canada who make use of the talking-book machine. These figures are taken from the recently-published annual report of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind.

Pledge Canada U.S. Friendship

James A. Farley Greeted By Cheers and Applause When He Speaks Here

The wish that Canada and the United States would ever remain "good neighbors" and give an object lesson in this regard to all the world was expressed by James A. Farley, Postmaster-General of the United States, when speaking before the Men's Canadian Club at dinner in the Empress Hotel ballroom Saturday evening.

James W. Hudson, president of the club, presided and introduced Mr. Farley who was thanked for his address by Premier Pattullo.

The ballroom was crowded and a number of members of the Women's Canadian Club and guests at the hotel arrived to hear Mr. Farley speak.

"I must confess I have no feeling whatever of paying a visit to a foreign country," Mr. Farley said. "I am perfectly at home here. I am just one of your neighbors, who, with his children, has dropped in for a friendly call, fully appreciative of your gracious hospitality and looking forward, with the anticipations of a boy just out of school to a few days' vacation in your great country. Now that I am here, I cannot, for the life of me, understand what has detained me."

SAME PROBLEMS

Mr. Farley spoke of the unwavering bond of friendship which had existed for so many years between the two powers of the North American continent and said how happy the people of his country were because of that friendship.

"Your nation and mine have the same ideals," he said. "We think the same thoughts; our citizens work hard and lead decent lives. On both sides of the border, from tip to tip, there exists the philsophy of the golden rule. It is no wonder that our public relations are held up before the eyes of the citizens of world as the pattern for international conduct and the basis of sound international agreement.

"Being neighbors, it is but natural that once in a while our chickens may stray into the other fellow's garden; but nobody is going to be murdered in his bed on that account. A little friendly talk has always straightened things out."

TRIP TO ALASKA

Mr. Farley spoke of his recent trip to Alaska and told something of the development of the fishing industry there and the United States plan of conservation.

"With regard to our mutual fishing problems it seems to me that the machinery that our governments have provided should be of great value," he said. "It is, of course, too early to expect concrete results from the Sockeye Salmon Commission, which has been in operation only a comparatively short time, but in the long run it holds out great promise to alleviating the difficulties in which that industry finds itself."

He spoke also of the proposed Yukon-Alaska highway through British Columbia. "That it will eventually be realized and that means will be found to overcome whatever difficulties may now exist I have no doubt, if it is the wish of the people of both countries."

TRADE MATTERS

Trade matters, also, were mentioned by Mr. Farley. He said they transcended all other questions in importance for both countries.

"Let me say just a word about our relations as a whole," Mr. Farley concluded. "In our external relations we in the United States are definitely committed to the policy of the 'good neighbor' and in our dealings with all countries are endeavoring to live up to the principles which that term implies. In the case of Canada the mention of a 'good neighbor' policy would be superfluous. Indeed, it would be a clear case of putting the cart before the horse, for, in my opinion, the manner in which Canada and the United States have dealt with their mutual problems in the past could well be regarded as the foundation of our 'good neighbor' policy."

GIVEN CHEERS

Both before and after his address Mr. Farley was loudly applauded and when he rose to speak the audience rose with him and gave three cheers. The King and the President were toasted and "God save the King" and "My Country 'tis of Thee," were sung at the end of the meeting. Guests then filed past the head table to meet Mr. Farley.

From MATHILDE
(Times Correspondent)

LONDON — One of the most interesting women in London recently was Miss Francis Perkins, U.S. Secretary of Labor. She is the first woman to hold a cabinet office in the United States, and she has spent the past 27 years working for the improvement of conditions for the working classes.

Talking to her one gains the impression that she conceals dynamic force behind a somewhat mild exterior. She is short, and quietly dressed, but she flashes a keen eye while she expounds a point.

"Women in America," she said, "enjoy taking an active part in public life."

SEX NO DISADVANTAGE

She was annoyed when it was suggested that as a woman she might find herself at a natural disadvantage in her capacity as a cabinet minister.

"I've always been a woman," she retorted, "and I can't tell you whether I should find things easier if I were a man. But I do know this—women should learn to lose their self-consciousness in professions. I consider that we are as fitted for most work as men. Nowadays, if we have a job of work to do we do it.

"Have you ever noticed how many women continue the work on farms when their husbands die? In the war it was the same. Women were doing the most heroic tasks. There is no reason why we should not be fitted to occupy any post involving brain work."

Miss Perkins was in London to meet labor leaders and Mr. Ernest Brown, the Minister of Labor. There is one problem that is occupying a great deal of her time at the moment, and that is the method of settling labor disputes without strikes or lockouts.

TO LEARN FROM ENGLAND

"In England," she said, "you settle these disputes by law, habit or custom. When you have strikes they are long ones because they are well organized, but at the same time they are rare. In the United States they are going on the whole time. We just can't settle ours, and we want to know how you do it."

Miss Perkins is also interested in housing problems and she visited London County Council housing estates in order to gather some ideas for the solution of the slum clearance problem in America.

"We have had plans ready for some time," she said, "but somehow we just cannot get them under way in sufficient volume to stimulate industry. I consider that the new housing system in England was primarily responsible for your industrial recovery."

Frances Perkins is married to Mr. Paul Wilson, a New York businessman, and has a daughter who was married a year or so ago. In her spare time she likes to read and browse in second-hand bookshops. Her other passion is for pictures.

"Not the movies," she hastened to explain, "but art. There is no gallery like the Tate. I go there every time I am in London."

AGE LOOKS BACK ON YOUTH

A number of distinguished and successful women have contributed to a book of reminiscences edited by the Countess of Oxford and Asquith, and she was the chairman at a recent literary luncheon.

The title of the book, "Myself When Young," was the theme of two very interesting after-lunch speeches, but before they were given several notable women present were asked to stand for a moment.

Violet Vanbrugh, the actress, was greeted as she stood up with hearty clapping; Ursula Bloom, the authoress, looked particularly charming as she acknowledged the applause; Sylvia Pankhurst, the 56-year-old suffragist, rose amidst table-thumping and cheers and waved her arm militantly. But the loudest clapping was for Amy Johnson, who rose shyly and was not on her feet for more than a second.

DR. MAUDE ROYDEN

Dr. Maude Royden, the 61-year-old preacher, was there, too, dressed in a black cassock-like dress with a neat white collar.

The horror of growing old, she told the gathering, is a malady of youth, and one of the greatest blessings of age is that you need only do the things you want to do.

Though she spoke proudly of her age, her voice was youthful and spirited, and she switched from solemnity to humor with the confidence of a practiced orator.

"When you have had your face lifted for the last time," she said amid laughter, " and you decide that in future your dress must be designed for the statelier figure, and when your 'undies' must be those of the chillier charmer—then you can sit back with a sigh of relief and for the first time in your life be content with your face as it really is."

Ellen Wilkinson, M.P., with only a few minutes to spare before she was due in Parliament, said that when she thought about herself and her fellow contributors to "Myself When Young" she wondered whether she and they were pleased with themselves because they were successful, or whether they were successful because they were pleased with themselves.

"The main test of success," she added "is to ask ourselves whether we enjoy what we were doing.

"If we do not enjoy what we are doing we should immediately find something else."

Her short speech ended with a tribute to Lady Oxford. "However hard anyone tried," she said, "they could never be another Lady Oxford."

Weddings

FOYER—NEWLANDS

The marriage of Elspeth Wilson (Elsie), eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Newlands, 2826 Scott Street, and Mr. James Foyer, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Foyer, 519 Northcott Avenue, was quietly solemnized in the vestry of the First United Church on Saturday evening. Rev. John E. Bell officiated in the presence of members of both families.

Mr. Newlands gave his daughter in marriage. She was an attractive figure in her smart bolero frock of dove-grey silk, with which she wore a small white hat and veil and matching accessories, and a corsage bouquet of rosebuds and carnations. Miss Jessie Newlands was her sister's only bridesmaid, wearing a pretty frock of white sheer, patterned in a floral design, girdled with a pink sash, and a white hat and accessories. Her corsage bouquet was of sweet peas and carnations. Mr. Jack Foyer supported his brother.

After the ceremony a reception for members of the families and intimate friends was held at the home of the bride's parents, the young couple standing in a floral arch, beneath a white wedding bell, to receive the good wishes of the assembled guests. Mrs. Frank Parr played the Wedding March as the bride and groom entered the room.

A hand-crocheted cloth covered the supper table, which was centred with the bride's cake, standing between vases of sweet peas and gypsophila, and small silver sconces holding lighted white tapers. Mrs. Newlands wore a navy blue and white polka dot dress with white accessories, and Mrs. Foyer Sr. was in a smart black frock, trimmed with rose, and white-brimmed hat of black, with touches of pink and white.

Mr. and Mrs. Foyer left at midnight for the mainland, the bride wearing a mustard-colored coat over her wedding costume. On their return they will reside on North Park Street. Miss Alice Newlands, Vancouver, was a guest at the wedding.

PAULIN—DANIELS

At St. Matthias Church, Foul Bay, on Saturday at 11.30, Rev. Alan Gardiner united in marriage Muriel Margaret, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Daniels, 2533 Margate Avenue, Oak Bay, and Mr. George Paulin, elder son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Paulin.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a pink dress and hat, with matching accessories, and a corsage bouquet of gardenias and white roses. She was attended by her sister, Miss Dorothea Daniels, who wore a rust-colored dress and hat, and a corsage bouquet of carnations. Lieut.-Col. Vincent McKenna was best man.

After the service, the bridal party and immediate relatives had luncheon at the Empress Hotel, Mr. and Mrs. Paulin leaving on the afternoon boat for Vancouver, en route to Seattle. On their return, they will make their home on Oliver Street, Oak Bay.

PIMM—PARKER

Two popular young people were united in marriage at St. John's Church on Saturday evening at 8.30, the principals being Florence Mary, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Parker, Rocky Point, and Mr. John Henry Pimm, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pimm, 1629 Burton Avenue.

Rev. Canon F. A. P. Chadwick officiated. The wedding music was played by the Haydn String Orchestra, of which the bridegroom is a member, the players including Mr. Chris. Miller, first violin; Mr. Stephen Davie, second violin, who substituted for the bridegroom; Mr. Gilbert Margison, viola, and Mr. Bert Botten, cello.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of white satin with short puff sleeves, long white lace mittens, and a Madonna veil. She carried a Colonial posy of Sweetheart roses and lilies of the valley.

The bridal attendants were Miss Esther Pimm, sister of the bridegroom, in a pretty frock of blue net, and Miss Muriel Soares, in pink net. They both wore Dolly Varden hats to match their frocks, and carried sheaves of gladioli and carnations. Mr. Vernon Tupman was best man, and the bride's brothers, Messrs. Walter and Noel Parker, were ushers.

A reception was held later at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. A. Godtel, 1362 Hillside Avenue, where the decorations were carried out with pink and white flowers, and a three-tiered cake centred the supper table.

After a honeymoon motoring on the island, for which the bride left in a navy blue outfit, Mr. and Mrs. Pimm will return to Victoria to live.

Shirley Temple Has Temperature

BOSTON (AP) — Shirley Temple, dimpled nine-year-old movie star, yesterday was confined to bed, by order of two Boston physicians, who said she was a victim of "too much heat and excitement."

Drs. Harold Higgins and Joseph L. Lewis said Shirley, here with her parents on a vacation tour, was running a temperature of 100.5, but that a day in bed would restore her to full health. She reached Boston from New York last night.

The garden party in aid of the Queen of Peace Church, Esquimalt, will be held tomorrow afternoon, opening at 3. Hoping for fine weather and a large attendance the committee is making every effort to assure its success. The Boys' Band will supply the music for the occasion.

Fan Protests Make Star Withdraw

Norma Shearer Finds She Is Unsuited For "Scarlett O'Hara"

By HUBBARD KEAVY
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD — The public never will know how many of its letter writers became indignant over the casting of Norma Shearer as Scarlett O'Hara.

The number was sufficient, anyway, to cause Miss Shearer to tell Producer David Selznick, as she formally announced yesterday, that she thought herself unsuited as the leading lady of his "Gone With the Wind."

In making and breaking stars, Hollywood has learned that fan mail must be taken into account. It has been suggested the naming of Miss Shearer might have been a straw in the wind. If it was, it got results.

Between three and four million letters a year are addressed to Hollywooders, big and little. Miss Shearer obviously took her cue from her mail. She indicated two weeks ago she would consider pretty carefully before agreeing to bring Margaret Mitchell's heroine to celluloid life. Yesterday she said she had received "quite a few letters, many of them surprisingly interesting."

And so, the public having spoken, the nominating list for for Hollywood's most discussed casting is again open.

LOOK FOR UNKNOWN

Your guess as to who will replace Norma in Selznick's favor is as good as anyone's. Tallulah Bankhead may be in the running again. Many still like Katharine Hepburn and hundreds once voted for Margaret Sullavan. Miriam Hopkins is another whose name is often linked with Rhett Butler's. Incidentally, Clark Gable still is set for that role, although the all-important papers have yet to be signed.

When the Selznick studio heard of Miss Shearer's statement, it didn't bat an official eye. Apparently, her action wasn't unexpected. And then it came up with a statement:

"We will immediately begin a new search for an unknown to play the role of Scarlett O'Hara. We may not find her, but we will send out talent scouts once more."

Guides Enjoyed Camping Days

The 3rd Victoria West (Catholic Women's League) Girl Guides have returned to their homes after an enjoyable 10 days at camp under canvas at Prospect Lake.

Under delightful weather conditions, the days were profitably spent in hiking, swimming, boating and other Guide activities. Softball games and sing-songs were held each evening, ending with a masquerade and song-composing competition.

On Sunday last, Holy Mass was celebrated at the camp, with Rev. Father Gaudette officiating. Visitors to the camp included many parents and friends of the Guides.

The Guides present at the camp were: Macrina Boothe, Frances Daniel, Miriam and Loretta Lineham, Teresa Rivers, Joan Ciceri, Anna Gillis, Susie Colbert, Loraine Hall, Rita Clark-Colbert, Lorraine Hall, Rita Clark and Margaret Morry.

Those in charge of the camp were the captain, Miss K. Morry as commandant; Miss Joan Colbert, as quartermaster; Macrina Boothe as lifesavers; Margaret Morry as nurse.

The Company thanked all who in any way assisted in making the camp so successful.

Born Blind, Girl Now Sees

But Disappointed With Faces, She Wept Bitterly

LONDON—For 22 years trees, clouds, the sky were merely names to her, the sun meant only warmth; "color," "beauty," were just words that stirred her imagination. She was born blind.

Now this girl from a world of darkness has been given sight through a series of operations performed by a brilliant West of England surgeon, Mr. R. Colley, of the Royal United Hospital and the Eye Infirmary, Bath.

When first she saw the indistinct glimmer of a nurse's white apron she was overjoyed.

But as her vision grew and she was able to distinguish faces, there came disappointment. She wept for long hours.

The world which others could see was a poor exchange, after all, for her dream world.

She was greatly disappointed with faces. She said she had thought all people were beautiful and had "happy-looking faces."

Mr. Colley tells of the case in the British Medical Journal.

LIKE A BABY

From the age of 10 to 19 the girl was educated in a blind school, where she was happy.

Then she returned to her home, where there were six brothers and sisters whose sight was normal. For the first time the girl began to long for the gift of sight and in 1932 she went to the hospital to ask if anything could be done.

A few months ago a series of operations were performed and slowly her vision began to return.

At first—like a baby—she had no appreciation of distance and thought cars and people were coming straight at her. Gradually this feeling adjusted itself.

ELEPHANTS SEEM SMALL

Her ideas about what size objects would be were always exaggerated. She had imagined that bears were as large as elephants, and elephants much larger still. She was taken to the Zoo to see them.

"Colored pictures at first appeared just a mass of color, but now she is able to a large extent to make out the subject of the picture. She likes bright things and thinks flowers are beautiful," writes the surgeon.

Now the girl has been able to start work in a factory and take part in games.

Hopes Soon For Highway Start

Premier Pattullo For Proposed Alaska Road Being Rushed to Completion

"I think that when a friendly nation desires access from one part of its territory to another, we should meet its desires as far as possible," Premier Pattullo said on Saturday evening when thanking Postmaster-general J. A. Farley of the United States for his address to the Men's Canadian Club.

Mr. Pattullo was referring to the proposed Alaska-Yukon highway through British Columbia, which has been mentioned by Mr. Farley.

"I have every hope this highway through British Columbia will not only be started very soon, but will be rushed to completion," Mr. Pattullo said.

The proposed highway, he said, would be of great benefit to the Yukon Territory.

He explained to Mr. Farley that an agreement had been signed for the province to take over this territory from the Dominion Government.

"We feel we can administer this territory to better advantage than it is now being administered," he said, "not through any fault of the Dominion Government but because we are so much closer. Operation of the agreement has been postponed at his request, Mr. Pattullo said, until a report was filed by the Rowell Commission.

The Premier told the U.S. Postmaster-general British Columbia was somewhat ambitious in this regard and would not only take over the 200,000 square miles of the Yukon but had asked also for an additional 200,000 square miles of the Mackenzie River basin.

DANGEROUS DIVE

PICTOU, N.S. — Wilfred Ounjay was knocked unconscious and almost drowned when he dove 50 feet from the top of a freight shed into Pictou Harbor. Instead of going in straight, he lost his balance and landed flat. He was rescued by spectators.

SOOKE DAY PROFIT $530

Association Given Report on Financial Outcome of Celebration

SOOKE — A meeting of the Sooke Community Association was held Friday to hear the financial report of all-Sooke Day and to make arrangements for the completing of the new hall. The president, Horace Goodrich, was in the chair.

The financial report, read by Secretary A. F. Brownsey, showed a total of $3,303.45 was realized from the day's activities. After all expenses and outstanding accounts were met, a balance of $531.44 remained. The picnic proved to be the most successful of any held in the district.

The directors of the association were empowered to proceed with the building of the dining-room, kitchen and stage, and to compete the new hall as far as possible. It was also decided to put on a monthly dance, starting August 12. Votes of thanks were passed to the Sooke Harbor Fishing and Packing Company for its help on all-Sooke Day and to the Robillard brothers who loaned the flats for the picnic.

A meeting of the church committee and the members of both the Sooke and Saseenos branches of the Women's Auxiliary was held at the home of Mrs. M. Robertson on Friday evening to make final arrangements for the 25th anniversary of Holy Trinity Church on August 10. There will be service in the church at 2, conducted by the Rev. Spencer Elliott, Dean of Columbia. A garden party will be held at the home of Mrs. S. McBride, commencing at 3.

The annual picnic of the British Columbia Electric Railway Company's employees will be held on the Sooke River flats on August 10. Arrangements have been made for a supper of barbecued salmon.

EAGLES MEET

A well-attended and enthusiastic meeting was held by Victoria Aerie No. 12, Fraternal Order of Eagles, on Wednesday evening, in their hall, 1319 Government Street.

Brother J. E. Marsh, chairman of the picnic committee, reported the basket picnic on August 7 will be held in Curlew Park, at the south end of Elk Lake.

J. R. B. Graham, president, presented Brother J. W. Bridgewood with a coffee percolator for having introduced into the aerie the largest number of candidates for membership during the past term. Brother A. E. Chilton was also complimented by the president for having been the close runner-up in this contest.

A volunteer committee was formed to rig up a float for the coming parade on August 6. The committee consists of C. L. Lester (chairman), J. R. Barker, H. R. McDonald, J. W. Bridgewood, J. Harrison, C. L. Andrews, P. Caine, H. R. Griffin and J. Viggors.

One new member was initiated into the order and another application was received. The cumulative attendance prize was awarded to Brother C. L. Andrews

Big Crowd At Band Concert

One of the largest crowds of the current season attended yesterday afternoon's concert by the band of the First Battalion, Canadian Scottish Regiment, in Beacon Hill Park.

The program arranged by Lieut. James M. Miller, director, was given an enthusiastic reception, as were the vocal solos of George H. Farmer, which included "Danny Boy," "Queen of the Earth," "O Dry Those Tears" and "Farewell To Thee." "The Death of Nelson," a trombone solo by Bandsman Cliff Rutledge, was also well received.

The program included concert, descriptive and characteristic numbers and the large audience encored several selections during the afternoon.

Adams Winner In Marathon

Defeats Sandy Somerville at 39th Hole to Lift Canadian Golf Crown

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Canada's amateur golfing championship was captured Saturday by a likeable young southerner whose sensational extra-hole win over Sandy Somerville was the biggest of all surprises that the week-long tournament provided.

The feat of Ted Adams, 21-year-old Missouri school teacher, was almost unbelievable to the 2,500 persons who galloped about the course of the London Hunt and Country Club. The boy from Columbia, Mo., showed them at the 39th green, winning the long struggle 1 up.

It was over his home course where he knew almost every inch of fairways and greens that Somerville lost the title, the sixth he has held.

IS NEARLY MOBBED

When Adams rapped down a three-and-a-half-foot putt at the 39th to win, the huge crowd gave him a real whooping ovation and nearly mobbed him.

There was general regret that the title will move south of the border, but the Missouri boy won his way into the hearts of all with his pleasant smile, brilliant golf and iron nerve when put to the test against Canada's outstanding golfing champion.

Adams on Saturday carried the hottest putter exhibited in the entire tournament. He banged down putts from all over the greens, from a few inches to 50 feet. The few he missed, including a couple of sparkling 60-footers, he took in stride, grinning amiably.

Where Adams was strong on the greens, Somerville's usual sure touch was lacking. He missed several three and four-footers that ordinarily he would sink without trouble. But with his irons, Sandy played a beautiful game, steadier with these shots than Adams.

Strangely enough, it was one short iron shot by Somerville that played a part when the hole meant the championship. At the 39th they were well down the fairway with their drives.

Aiming at the elevated green, Adams fired his iron shot to the far side, the ball rolling several feet off the carpet.

Sandy's shot struck the bank a foot below the green and rolled to the bottom of the 15-foot steep incline. He had to pitch blindly and his ball landed 10 feet from the cup. Adams chipped up and was 3½ feet away. Somerville's putt just failed, and Adams, with the championship in sight, took his time and calmly sank the ball.

One of the most remarkable things about this championship final is that not once was Somerville in front. Three times Sandy, playing his cool, deliberate game, squared the match.

Sports Mirror

When the leading local swimming stars of today were too young to go paddling, Edna Curry was a happy young free-style performer making her bid in P.N.A. competition at the Gorge and training regularly at the "Free."

She competed in the days of Happy Keuhn, then Olympic diving champion, "Blackie" Fadden, Seattle's ace diver, "Buster" Douglas, Portland swimmer, and the old crowd that made the V.I.A.A. pool at Curtis Point an important site in international swimming.

Had it not been for Audrey Griffin, who was winning with monotonous regularity, Edna would have crashed the headlines with victories. As it was, she was a consistent performer and a good team member.

Then Edna changed her domicile to Seattle and swam in competition there for a time.

Now she has undertaken a new venture. Her mother, at present a visitor in the city, reports Edna the pioneering bride of L. H. Thompson, Nome mining contractor.

The story of her romance is written in the Alaska Fishing News of a recent date. The item follows:

"From Crystal Swimming Pool in Seattle to a placer mine near Nome is a long jump, but Edna Curry Thompson, former Pacific Northwest swimming champion, took the leap with the aid of Cupid.

"The former aquatic star was married to L. H. Thompson, Nome mining contractor and operator, in Seattle, March 14.

"It was Mrs. Frank Whaley who was responsible for the meeting of the newlyweds last November. Once the diving champion of the Pacific Coast, Mrs. Whaley (then Neva Brownfield) was a close friend of Mrs. Thompson in Seattle, where they both trained at the Crystal Pool, so when Mr. and Mrs. Whaley went outside from Nome for a vacation last fall, they found Thompson in Seattle and introduced him to his future bride. Whaley is a pilot at Nome.

"'And from there on, things just happened—' pretty Mrs. Thompson laughed.

"Strange as it seems, included in the bride's trousseau is a swimming suit! Although there won't be much chance to use it at Nome, Mrs. Thompson thinks a swimming suit is definitely the luckiest apparel she ever donned."

From the clip that comes—strong criticism of U.S. professional golfers by Richard Arlen, the film actor and an enthusiastic sportsman, who has withdrawn his sponsorship of the Pasadena and Sacramento open golf tournaments because

E. R. Wilson Scores Rare Feat on Golf Links at Kingsville, Ont.

KINGSVILLE, Ont. (CP) — E. R. Wilson, Grosse Point, Mich., scored two holes in one on the Kingsville Golf Club course yesterday. His feat was vouched for by Benny Dixon, club pro, and foursomes playing before and after him.

Wilson, a left-handed player, said he "usually plays around in the low nineties." He used a spoon for the 145-yard drive at the ninth hole and again while playing a second 18 for the 150-drive at the third.

Vancouver Duo In Long Swim

Ann Mundigal and George Drisco Make Vancouver-Bowen Island Jaunt

VANCOUVER (CP) — George Drisco of Vancouver churned into English Bay here last night after a 14-mile swim from Bowen Island and said he felt "swell."

Drisco, fellow Polar Bear Club member of Ann Mundigal, who swam from here to Bowen Island Saturday, made the trip in eight and a half hours—an hour and a half longer than Ann took.

(Both are former finishers in the Victoria Times swim.)

"I ran into some tough currents and the water was plenty cold in spots," Drisco told interviewers.

First thing George wanted when he landed was a shower and a cup of coffee.

"Then I'm going home and have a nice juicy tenderloin steak and a good sleep. I gotta work tomorrow."

Two boats accompanied him when he left a cheering crowd of summer campers at 11 a.m.

MUNDIGAL SWIM

Met at Bowen Island by practically the entire summer colony population, including Mayor George Miller of Vancouver, Miss Mundigal said she was "prepping" for the women's distance swim at the New York World Fair next year and later would probably try the English Channel.

Only once was she doubtful about the outcome. That was off Point Atkinson, some eight miles from her starting point, where the icy waters of Burrard Inlet and Howe Sound converge, with temperatures from 45 to 52 degrees.

"I was afraid I might not make it," said Ann. "It was pretty cold and rough."

Local Team Second In Drill Contest

The Victoria Motorcycle Club's snappy drill team, that proved to be one of the highlights in last year's parades, took second place in the drill team competition held at the monster northwest motorcycle rally in Aberdeen, Washington, last week, it was reported today by members who returned from the convention yesterday.

They were beaten by the Cossacks Motorcycle Club of Seattle. The Seattle club won out over the local boys because of their elaborate uniforms and the fact that their bikes were painted to match.

The 12 riders who returned yesterday reported the meet was a success. Ken Henderson and George Wellburn decided to make a real holiday of it and are taking a trip around Mount Rainier.

LANGFORD WINS

In an interclub match played at the Langford Tennis Club the home players defeated a team from First United 14 to 2. The visitors won one match in the women's doubles and another in the mixed.

Third For Marble

SEA BRIGHT, N.J.—The Sea Bright bowl passed today into the permanent possession of blonde Alice Marble who promptly turned to her work of dress designing and a week's layoff from tournament tennis.

The San Franciscan, avenging her last year's loss to Dorothy Bundy in the United States national championships turned back the Santa Monica girl in straight sets, 6-2, 6-2, yesterday to win the women's championship of the Sea Bright invitation tournament for the third consecutive year.

After her singles victory, Miss Marble paired with Harold Surface of Kansas City to win the mixed doubles crown—her third title of the tournament—over Bobby Riggs of Chicago, the men's single champion, and Mrs. Dorothy Andrus of New York. Scores were 6-3, 6-2.

Sidney Wood of New York and Joe Hunt of Los Angeles captured the men's doubles title with an 8-6, 6-2, 8-6 victory over Chester and William Murphy, Chicago twins.

Monster Bowling Tournament Opens

Mayor McGavin Ushers in 11th Annual Lawn Bowling Meet at Beacon Hill

Promptly at 9 this morning on the greens of four Victoria lawn bowling clubs opening ceremonies were held to usher in the 11th annual Greater Victoria District Lawn Bowling Association tournament.

Before a large gallery of bowlers and spectators at the Beacon Hill greens of the Victoria Lawn Bowling Club, Mayor Andrew McGavin extended a cordial welcome to visiting and local players and expressed the wish that the out-of-town competitors will find time to see the many attractions the city has to offer during their week-long stay.

The mayor pointed out that this was going to be a busy week for him and his councilmen for besides attending to civic business they would have to attend the numerous Navy Week functions. Percy Harwood, from Oakland, California, threw the first jack and Mayor McGavin bowled the first wood.

Walter Peddle, president of the Greater Victoria District Lawn Bowling Association, in a brief address, said it was gratifying to see so many visiting players on hand and expressed the hope that weather conditions would continue fine for the tournament.

Major A. A. Warder, president of the Victoria West Lawn Bowling Club, opened play at the Victoria West greens, where women's competitions are billed, while J. Belanger officiated at the opening at the C.P.R., greens, where other women's competitions are scheduled. J. W. Mercer ushered in play on the Burnside Club greens. Play on the Lake Hill greens will not open until tomorrow.

This year's tournament has attracted more visitors than local players and should produce plenty of keen competition before the new champions are crowned at the end of the week. Players from California, the prairies and British Columbia points are among the 301 competitors.

Rifle Shooting

By scoring 100 out of a possible 105, veteran Fred Richardson took top honors in the weekly shoot held by the Victoria and District Military Rifle Association at Heals Range Saturday afternoon. Another veteran shot, Capt. W. E. Tapley, came through with a 98 to take runner-up honors, and Mrs. Hugo Rayment with a 95 was third.

S.M.I. W. H. Wood posted a score of 129 to top marksmen in the special shoot held by the Garrison Association. Those competing in this event shot 10 rounds at each range with service sights.

A splendid 103 not out by Geo. Payne and clever bowling by his brother Jack featured Five C's one-sided victory over Cowichan in the Victoria and District Cricket Association league game played up-island Saturday.

Reg Wenman led Incogs to victory by 118 runs and two wickets in the knockout series game at Beacon Hill. Incogs piled up 217, including Wenman's 56, for eight, and then dismissed Albions for 99.

BUFFALO WINS ROWING TITLE

West Sides Capture Aggregate Championship at Canadian Henley

PORT DALHOUSIE, Ont. — Buffalo West Sides, United States national rowing champions for three years, held the added title today of champions of the 56th Royal Canadian Henley regatta.

West Sides paced by Mike Broderick's heavyweight eight, came roaring from behind on the final day of the three-day regatta Saturday to nose out Toronto Argonauts in the aggregate-point standing. By winning the last event for senior fours with Argos third behind Lachine, West Sides compiled a total of 55 points to the Toronto club's 50.

The West Side big eight, United States national champions since winning at Red Bank, N.J., a week ago, won the day's feature event from Hamilton Leanders. The crews staged a gruelling battle down the Welland Canal stretch of 1 mile 550 yards.

This was the climax to three days of fine racing which was anything but dominated by either West Sides or Argos. The west played a part more prominent than in many years, crews from Fort William, Winnipeg and Regina scoring victories.

Joe Burk, sensational "robot" sculler of the Penn. A.C., Philadelphia, had the easiest time of all Saturday. Burk won the single sculls title by 10 lengths from Johnny Coulson for Argos.

Addison Captures Honors At Games

Local Boy Outstanding Performer at Highly Successful Highland Event

Joe Addison, Victoria's flying cop, added more laurels to the impressive track record, he has accumulated over a period of years Saturday, when he was acclaimed the most outstanding performer in all events to carry off major honors at the Highland Games, staged on the greensward at Macdonald Park under the auspices of the newly-organized Victoria Highland Games Association.

Addison, running under the banner of the Y.M.C.A., turned in a great track performance to capture the Auckland Cup, emblematic of the grand aggregate championship, and the Dr. J. D. Hunter Trophy, symbolic of track and field honors. He scored two firsts, finished in second place three times, placed third twice and was also a member of the winning relay squad.

The track and field events on the length Highland program, which attracted a strong local entry, and competitiors from Nanaimo, Vancouver, Vernon, and other B.C. points, provided some keen competition. Outside participants also carried off a good percentage of the large array of silverware which adorned a long table facing the crowded grandstand.

SPEEDY YOUNGSTER

A youngster who did not fail to catch the admiring eye of track experts, was Campbell Williams from Nanaimo. This winged-footed 16-year-old from the Nanaimo Athletic Club was by far the classiest junior performer in the meet. Competing against senior material in the 100 yards open event for men, Williams sprinted the distance in 10 and 2-5 seconds to beat the field to the tape. He also scored victories in the 100 and 220-yard junior events.

THE ADMIRAL IS EXTENDED

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y.—War Admiral won his second race in four days when he led four rivals over the mile and a quarter of the $7,500 Saratoga Handicap Saturday.

The four-year-old son of Man o'War from Samuel D. Riddle's stable set all the pace but just managed to stave off the great stretch bid of William Ziegler Jr's Esposa. Only a neck separated the pair with William Woodward's Isolator four lengths back in third place. Unfailing was fourth and Burning Star last.

Running over a slow track, the Admiral covered the distance in 2.06 to pay 7 to 10.

Revolta Is Champ

ST. PAUL (AP)—Johnny Revolta today owned a brand new cheque for $1,600 and his third major fairway triumph of 1938.

The professional from Evanston, Ill., began playing golf as a caddie 15 years ago in Wisconsin, placed another notch on his club yesterday by capturing the St. Paul open championship at the Keller course from a fast field which gave par a thorough battering.

Revolta's final two rounds of 71-68 for a 72-hole aggregate of 276 or 12 under par, was one stroke under the total of big Willie Goggin of San Bruno, Cal., runner-up a year ago. In third place was "Slammin' Sam" Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., the defending champion, with a 278 total, followed by Ernie Harrison of Chicago at 279, Lawson Little of San Francisco at 280 and Frank Stuhler of Jamaica, N.Y., at 281.

Are Carried 15 Innings In Second

Leaders Whip Chicago Sox 5 to 1 and 7 to 3; Giants and Pittsburgh Lose

As a hard-boiled baseball fan, whose only reason for standing during the "lucky" seventh inning is to get limbered up a bit, you may not put much stock in baseball superstition. The "jinxes," however, seem to be playing their usual important part in the pennant races.

In particular, Pittsburgh Pirates, National League leaders, seem to be jinxed by Brooklyn Dodgers and the second-place New York Giants by Cincinnati Reds. And now the humble Phillies are troubling Chicago Cubs.

It wasn't any great surprise to cash customers when the Dodgers knocked off the Pirates 4 to 3 yesterday, and the Reds outlasted the Giants 7 to 6, in an 11-inning struggle. Pittsburgh has managed to just win half of its 16 games against Brooklyn and the Giants have taken only one series and six games in 17 starts against the Reds.

The Cubs, meanwhile, dropped their third straight close one to Philadelphia 6 to 5, when Bill Atwood belted a home run with two out in the 12th inning of a twin-bill opener. The Cubs came back to win a seven-inning nightcap 4 to 3, after spotting the Phils three runs in the first inning. The even break left Chicago 2½ games behind the Giants and one up on the Reds.

BEES TAKE PAIR

Despite the victory, the Dodgers dropped into sixth in the standing when the Boston Bees won two 3 to 2 decisions from St. Louis Cardinals to pick up a half game. Deacon Danny MacFayden hurled eight-hit ball and Lou Fette a seven-hit game for the Bees.

New York Yanks, who find Chicago's White Sox annoying at times but anything but a jinx, worked overtime to win two games from the Pale Hose and increase their American League lead to two games. With Monte Pearson hurling five-hit ball, they took the opener 5 to 1. Then Spud Chandler had to toil 15 innings before the Yanks blasted Thornton Lee for four runs and a 7 to 3 triumph.

Boston's third-place Red Sox ran into an unexpected surprise at St. Louis when the Browns won a double-header, 7 to 6 and 10 to 2.

COAST LEAGUE

Although Los Angeles Angels topped the Coast Baseball League by two games today they're going to have to play a lot of baseball the next seven weeks to stay there.

The Angels trimmed Portland, 7 to 3 and 3 to 0 yesterday, but simultaneously the second-place Sacramento Senators beat Seattle twice, 4 to 2 and 4 to 3. San Diego won six out of seven games with the Hollywood Stars by splitting a twin bill yesterday and thus hung onto third place. Hollywood won the opener 3 to 2, and dropped the nightcap 8 to 1.

San Francisco made it six out of seven against Oakland by dividing a double-header. Seals won the first game 10 to 4 to make it six straight and then the Oaks came back to save themselves a shutout for the week and won the second game 6 to 5.

GAS MILEAGE TESTS MADE

Interesting Results From Experiment With Hillman Minx Car

What is the correct way to gauge the gasoline consumption of the car you are driving? It is a question that will interest every motorist, and for that reason results of a test reported in the June 3 issue of the British motoring magazine, the Autocar, is of interest.

"All the tests were made with the same stock car, a 10-h.p. Hillman Minx Saloon. A series of long-distance tests using a carefully measured five gallons, and covering up to 200 miles each, were made to give results which would be more or less beyond cavil.

The results therefore are those which any owner of a 1938 Hillman can expect. Here are the results of these test runs:

"Test 1. Over good roads, under ideal conditions. Two occupants. Five gallons. Speed to be averaged 30 m.p.h. Result: Distance covered 217.1 miles; running time 7 hours 13 minutes; gasoline consumption 43.42 miles per gallon.

"Test 2. As above: Speed to be averaged 35 m.p.h. Result: Distance covered 194.8 miles; running time 5 hours and 33 minutes; gasoline consumption 38.96 miles per gallon.

"Test 3. As above: Speed to be averaged 40 m.p.h. Result: Distance covered 162.4 miles; running time 4 hours and 3 minutes; gasoline consumption 32.48 miles per gallon.

Other test routes chosen were over hilly country, driving with four passengers and 100 pounds of luggage. Driving at speeds from 30 to 60 m.p.h., they showed a variation as great as 10.94 miles per gallon of gasoline used.

Latest Methods Adopted by Firm

Most Modern Streamline Van Built in Province Is New Addition to Fleet

When Art and Alf Dowell returned from overseas they had made up their minds to go into business in Victoria and as a consequence they bought their first Ford delivery van and started the City Auto Delivery. Today, after 20 years in the trucking business, they are one of the largest operators in the city, with their own storage warehouse for the safe storage of household effects and separate warehouse for the packing, crating and distributing of merchandise to all parts of the world. They are this week marking a period of 20 years of progress.

ART DOWELL

After a careful study of the most modern methods of transportation employed by the largest firms in California, Arthur Dowell, who was there recently attending a convention of the National Furniture and Storage Association, has added to the firm's fleet the largest and most modern streamlined van yet built in British Columbia.

ALF DOWELL

EXPERIENCED EMPLOYEES

"My brother and I attribute our steady growth and progress since the establishment of our business to the care with which we have selected our employees," says Arthur Dowell. "As opportunity afforded we have added to our payroll the most experienced men in the city of Victoria. Many of these men have done nothing else all their lives but work at packing, crating and transportation of merchandise of one kind or another. The result is that when men leave our premises to undertake a job they have our complete confidence because we know that they know their business."

In charge of the warehouse which is devoted to packing and crating are Frank Jeeves and E. Creed. They have spent 35 and 25 years respectively in packing and crating furniture. During that time they have handled the majority of the largest removals from Victoria to all parts of the world. It is a high tribute to their skill and care that the firm has received numerous letters of appreciation saying that entire shipments arrived without a single article being damaged.

All of the 18 other employees of the firm are men of many years' experience. During recent months the firm has augmented its office space and carried out extensive alterations in its storage warehouse. One complete floor has been converted into private rooms of different sizes so that a few articles or the entire contents of a home can be placed in one compartment and kept under lock and key. There has also been completed a large moth-proof room for the storage of rugs, mattresses, chesterfield suites, etc. Many of these alterations have been carried out after an examination by Arthur Dowell of some of the largest repository buildings on the Pacific Coast and they will answer a long-felt need by those who require such a service.

RELIABLE CONNECTIONS

As members of the Furniture Warehousemen and Removers' Association, Dowell's have reliable connections in every city of consequence throughout Canada, United States, England and the rest of the British Empire and Europe. Together with membership in the Canadian Storage Association and the National Warehousemen's Association of the United States, Dowell's maintain the closest possible connection with forwarding and distributing agencies throughout the country, knowing that when merchandise arrives at its destination it will be in reliable hands until it is received by the owner. Member firms of these associations consign their shipments to Victoria in care of Dowell's.

Rice oil is being used for the first time in oleomargarine in the United States.

THE MOVING VAN OF TOMORROW ... HERE TODAY!

There will be seen on the streets of Victoria a furniture Moving Van that is not only larger but more gracefully streamlined than any that has been seen here before. It is the newest addition to Dowell's modern fleet. This huge new van offers advantages in speed and efficiency that can mean a great deal to you in economical household moving. Its capacity is an ordinary load and a half, which means that the entire contents of one of the larger homes can be quickly and safely transported in one load!

If you anticipate Moving . . . to another home in Victoria . . . or to any part of the world, call Dowell's. They have the experienced men and modern equipment to serve you best.

Dean Has Given 11,000 Addresses

Very Rev. Spencer H. Elliott Has Interesting Record of Public Speaking

Very Rev. Spencer H. Elliott, Dean of Columbia, last night at Christ Church Cathedral preached his 11,000th sermon since his ordination.

This is revealed in a record of sermons, lectures and addresses which the Dean keeps which now extends to six volumes with each entry occuping a single line on a page. The record extends back to 1904 when the Dean took his honors degrees at the universities of Manchester and Leeds.

The first entry is dated October, 1904, when he preached at the age of 21 in a small mission church at Ripon, Yorkshire.

In the last 34 years the record shows an average of an address nearly every day of the year. The record reveals the Dean's appearance at the following cathedrals: St. Paul's, York, Manchester, Liverpool, Gloucester, Ripon, Peterborough, Sheffield, Bradford, Coventry, Newcastle, Southwell, Derby, Blackburn, Worcester, Bombay, Allahabad and Nagpur, the latter three being located in India.

The register shows sermons preached in a cavern at Castleton, Derbyshire; aboard ship miles from land and at an elevation of 8,000 feet in the Himalayas.

WORK IN WAR

Many hundreds of addresses in England and France during the Great War years are shown, including one occasion when he addressed a brigade of 12,000 men within four days. There is also notice of addresses to the Rhineland army during the occupation of German soil.

Interesting notes were those of the Dean's addresses in Indian referring to the work of the Mission of Help. More than 150 of these were given in widely-scattered areas of northern India, including town and jungle.

The fact that the Dean was one of the first clerical men to broadcast is recorded in a notation of a sermon preached during the early days of radio. More recently he took part in a broadcast from Westminster Abbey.

While the subjects of the Dean's addresses have been given original and attractive titles, it is clear on every page of the record that he has been a diligent expositor of the Holy Scriptures. He has not, however, forgotten the practical problems of daily life and on many occasions has referred to social problems, difficulties of unemployment, questions of peace and war and teaching about marriage, death and after death.

Oak Bay Picnic Enjoyable Event

Municipal Staff Forgets Worries With Day of Fun at Mount Douglas

Nearly 200 men, women and children spent an enjoyable day in Mt. Douglas Park on Saturday at the annual picnic of the Oak Bay Municipal Employees' Association.

Buses and private cars took the members of the municipal staff and their families and friends out to the park playground in the morning. They had an early basket lunch, then put in a full afternoon of sports of all descriptions, some serious, but most of them with a humorous twist.

Some of the highlights of the program were children's races for boys and girls in various age groups, a nail-driving contest for the women, races for single and married women, egg-and-spoon races, sack races, a bonnet-making contest in which hats had to be tailored out of colored crepe paper, a shuffleboard match between teams headed by Magistrate Henry Hall and Arthur D. Crease, won by the latter; a three-legged race for married couples, men's and women's tugs-of war, and a firemen's race in which the men had to run and put their uniforms and helmets on.

A Charlie McCarthy figure was used as a target for ball pitching, and only one out of more than 100 pitchers succeeded in hitting it.

The day was specially gay for the many children present with a profusion of ice cream, candy and pop.

The picnic was attended by representatives of the municipal council, school board, police commission, fire department and police department.

NOT SATISFIED WITH SALARIES

Further Action Sought From Special Wage Group on City Staffs

After Alderman John A. Worthington, chairman of the special wage committee, had threatened to resign from his post, the City Council today referred to the committee several letters from staff members seeking increases in salaries.

Alderman Worthington threatened to resign as Alderman Edward Williams introduced a public works committee recommendation to restore the salary of the city engineer to the level at which it stood when the late F. M. Preston was in that post.

After heated debate the motion was passed asking consideration for the request with a recommendation from the council favoring the increase.

Letters from three other employees were also referred to the special committee and Alderman W. L. Morgan informed the council he had another 12 for which he wished an explanation.

During the meeting the council approved a move by Alderman B. J. Gadsden, member of the special wage group, to secure establishment of a special civic service by-law, which would set forth grades for the city employ with set salaries for each job and increment consideration on a service basis.

Drafting of the by-law was left with the special wage committee.

Farley Family Enjoyed Visit

James A. Farley, Postmaster-general of the United States after his "good neighbor" visit to Victoria left on Ss. Princess Kathleen at 1.45 yesterday for Vancouver on his way to the Canadian Rockies.

He was delighted with his reception in Victoria and told friends he would long remember his visit. His two attractive daughters, Betty, 16 and as tall as her father and Ann, also had a wonderful time and said they were sorry they could not remain longer.

Yesterday morning Mr. Farley and his daughters walked through the gardens of the Empress Hotel and at 11 attended service at St. Andrew's Cathedral. They then took a brief drive about the city before boarding their steamer.

As the U.S. coastguard cutter Haida arrived off the waterfront on Saturday, with Mr. Farley and his party and Premier Tattullo returning from the Seattle Potlatch Parade, aboard she fired a national salute to Canada of 21 guns. Work Point Barracks returned the salute, with the same number of guns.

While their father was dining with members of the Men's Canadian Club, Betty and Ann had dinner in their suite with Miss Patsy Beard, daughter of Commander and Mrs. C. T. Beard. Later they watched the beating of the retreat on the Empress lawns by men of H.M.S. York.

Saturday afternoon following their arrival Mr. Farley and his daughters went to Government House for an informal reception. A number of Victorians were invited by the Lieut-Governor and Mrs. Hamber to meet them.

The flag of the Postmaster-general of the United States flew over the seas for the first time on Saturday since Mr. Farley took office. It was flown aboard the Haida as she arrived off Ogden Point. Mr. Farley had not been on a special boat since he took office.

RAYMUND A. EMMENS

Funeral services were held on Saturday afternoon in McCall Bros. Funeral Chapel for Raymund Albert Emmens, James Island, who was accidentally drowned at Sidney on July 27. Many sorrowing friends attended the service. The casket was blanked with beautiful flowers, which required an extra car for their conveyance. Among these were tributes from friends and the staff of James Island, the First James Island Boy Scout Troop and Group Committee, of which the deceased was a member, and from the headmaster and members of Kingsley School, North Vancouver, where the boy attended. Rev. Dr. A. S. Imrie conducted the services, during which the hymns sung were "O Love That Will Not Let Me Go" and "Safe in the Arms of Jesus." Interment was in Royal Oak Burial Park, with the following as pallbearers: W. Bond, J. Doran, W. Kidd, G. McPhee, D. Shepherd and S. Dennison.

Relief Problem Local, Says M.P.

Mayhew Tells Chamber Directors Municipalities Should Handle

Unemployment should be a problem for the individual municipalities and should be cared for by each according to its own conditions inside the frame of a general government supervision, with money provided by the federal and provincial governments foregoing some of their revenues from the municipalities, R. W. Mayhew, M.P., told the directors of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce at a luncheon in Spencer's dining-room today.

Still showing signs of the effects of the illness from which he is recovering, Mr. Mayhew spoke briefly and informally. It was his first semi-public appearance for several months.

The fact that the single jobless had left Victoria and moved into somebody else's street did not mean that the unemployment problem was settled, he said. He doubted whether it would be so long as it was left solely up to the governments. "A great deal of it is an individual responsibility," he said.

He did not think a single uniform relief program could be tailored by the Dominion to meet the varied need of various sections.

"The closer we can get the unemployed man to the home where he belongs the sooner the problem will be settled," he added.

RAILWAY QUESTION

Mr. Mayhew spoke briefly of the railway problem in Canada, which he said shared his main interest with the unemployment question.

He said he did not believe in railway unification, because he was confident the future development of the country would provide business aplenty for both lines.

"We people in Canada have any amount of country to develop. I don't believe Canada is going to go broke in using its money to develop its natural resources," he said.

CITY MAKES MILL DEAL

Subject to approval of the action by the city's legal counsel, the City Council today accepted a proposal from the Canadian Puget Sound Lumber Company which would permit the company to dismantle the mill, sell the machinery and pay the city the balance owing on the mill as well as the 1937 taxes and guarantee payment of 1938 levies.

Payment to the city will amount to approximately $17,000, including about $9,600 still owing by the company on the sum it agreed to pay the city when it reacquired the mill several years ago, and $6,600 representing 1937 taxes.

Question rose over the guarantee for 1938 taxes, several aldermen seeking a definite assurance that obligation would be met before the mill was dismantled.

Payment of the approximate $17,000 would be made immediately following the signing of the agreement by the city and the company interests, H. G. Lawson, representing the C.P.S., stated.

Archibald Macauley Is Laid to Rest Here

Many sorrowing friends attended the last rites held at the Sands Mortuary Chapel on Saturday afternoon over the remains of Archibald Macauley, who passed away at St. Joseph's Hospital on Thursday, aged 75 years. Rev. P. C. Hayman officiated. Mrs. S. M. Morton rendered the solo "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere," and the congregational hymn sung was "Nearer, My God, to Thee." The unusually large number of beautiful floral offerings which surrounded the casket betokened the high esteem in which Mr. Macauley was held, among the wreaths being those from the Victoria Lawn Bowling Club and from Quesnel Masonic Lodge, No. 69, Quesnel.

Mr. Macauley was born in Ireland and came to Canada 51 years ago, returning there in 1886, and six years later was married to Elizabeth Hodges, who survives him. He was a pioneer rancher of the Chilcotin district, operating the Al Ranch at Alexis Creek for 35 years, and came to Victoria 14 years ago, making his home at 417 Linden Avenue.

The remains were laid at rest in the family plot in Royal Oak Burial Park, the pallbearers being: W. Blenkinsop, W. G. McLaren, E. D. Sheringham, A. McKeachie, A. J. Wilson and B. Jacklin.

CARRUTHERS NET CHAMP

Coronado Star Captures Western Canada Title; Eleanor Young Beaten

VANCOUVER — Robert Carruthers, a flashing, red-haired lad from Coronado, Calif., ran true to form Saturday and carried away the championship cup in the final of the men's singles in the western Canada tennis championships here. Carruthers defeated Harold Wagner, San Francisco, 3-6, 3-6, 6-3, 6-1, 8-6.

Carruthers was master of the game at all times and although it took two sets to warm him up, there was never much doubt in the minds of more than 500 spectators that the lanky red-head would take the final.

Vancouver's hope, Eleanor Young, disappointed the fans when she failed to win from tiny Mary Arnold of Los Angeles. Miss Young, defeated by Miss Arnold in Seattle last week, was the only Canadian left in the finals, and in spite of her participation in three events Saturday she failed to win any.

She lost the women's singles to Miss Arnold, 6-4, 6-2, and in the women's doubles, teamed with Caroline Deacon of Vancouver, she lost to Miss Arnold and Dorothy De Vries, also of Los Angeles, 6-4, 6-4.

Surprise of Saturday's play was defeat of Ronald Edwards of San Jose, who took a drubbing from F. Schroeder of Glendale, 3-6, 3-6, 8-6, 6-2, 11-9.

Schroeder, after losing the first two sets, came from behind to beat the dark-skinned Edwards in the boys' under 18 final. It was the longest match of the day, running almost three hours.

In the men's doubles, Larry Hall, Bakersfield, and Norman Brooks, San Francisco, defeated Alan Herrington and John Sisson of Los Angeles 6-4, 7-5, 3-6, 6-3.

Barbara Duncan, Berkeley, and Ronald Edwards, San Jose, beat Eleanor Young and W. Reedy, Los Angeles, to take the title in mixed doubles, 1-6, 6-2, 9-7.

Star Cast In Capitol Story

Warner Baxter Leads Array of Talent in "I'll Give a Million"

A debonair millionaire gives his million the air and goes looking for a girl who is looking only for love!

In this vein, "I'll Give a Million" becomes one of the gayest, most hilarious cinematic romances to come out of Hollywood in an age. At the Capitol Theatre today, this 20th Century-Fox production gave the enthusiastic audience an array of star-talent that beggars all the upper-bracket adjectives.

Romantic Warner Baxter; glamorous Marjorie Weaver; Peter Lorre, the erstwhile Mr. Moto; beloved Jean Hersholt; that master of facial facility, John Carradine; exciting Lynn Bari; Fritz Feld in the best thing he has done since "The Miracle," are included in the cast.

Feud Theme Of Oak Bay Film

"Gold Is Where You Find It" and "Checkers" on Program

"Gold Is Where You Find It," a Warner Bros. all technicolor production starring George Brent and Olivia de Havilland, is showing at the Oak Bay Theatre today.

Based on the best selling novel of the same name by Clements Ripley, it is the story of the famous feud between the wheat ranchers and the hydraulic miners of California during the 1870s.

The large cast includes such outstanding players as Claude Rains, John Litel, Margaret Lindsay and Barton MacLane.

Grain Elevator Plan Snagged

Victoria's plan to lease the grain elevator at Ogden Point to the British government for food storage purpose fell through this morning with the receipt of a letter at the City Hall from W. A. McAdam, acting agent-general British Columbia in London.

Mr. McAdam enclosed a message from Hon. Massey, Canadian High Commissioner, which read in part:

"In the absence of instructions from the Department of External Affairs it would not be possible for me to approach the United Kingdom government with a view to the acquisition by them of an elevator in Canada for the purpose of storing foodstuffs."

Mr. McAdam said there was nothing more that could be done from the London end and returned the descriptive material sent by the City Council.

The letter was received and filed at today's council meeting.

A story of life in New Orleans and on the Louisiana plantations of the 1850's, "The Toy Wife" presents Miss Rainer in the title role of "Froufrou" Brigard with Douglas as George Sartoris, attorney and political figure whom she marries, and Young as Andre Vallaire, gambler, swordsman and also suitor for her hand.

"WELLS FARGO" AT COLUMBIA

Wheeler and Woolsey Show Second Attraction on Double Bill

The magic of the motion picture camera brings back to life the most stirring and colorful days in American history in "Wells Fargo," a romance with Joe McCrea and Frances Dee which opens today at the Columbia Theatre. The romance is built around the family fortunes of McCrea and Miss Dee, a pioneer western family, from the time the first pony express rider carried his bag of precious mail out of St. Louis for the remote mining camps of the high sierras, and ends with the close of the war between the states. Bob Burns, Lloyd Nolan, Henry O'Neil, Porter Hall, Robert Cummings and Ralph Morgan are in the supporting cast which numbers over 2,000.

MELODIC FILM NOW AT PLAZA

"The Beggar Student" Opens Run Today at Local Theatre

"The Beggar Student," new German film importation which opened at the Plaza Theatre today is claimed to be highly satisfying entertainment.

With scenes laid in Cracow during the German invasion of the Polish city in 1704, "The Beggar Student" tells the story of a beautiful Polish countess and her love for a supposedly impoverished student, who, in traditional operatic manner turns out to be nothing less than a prince. The leading roles are pleasantly portrayed by Carola Hoehn and Johannes Heesters. It is also equipped with many enchanting waltzes and picturesque costumes.

Yacht Club Boys Give Character Parts in "Cocoanut Grove"

For the first time in their motion picture career, the Yacht Club Boys, who burst in and out of the plot in "Artists and Models" and "Thrill of a Lifetime," are given real character roles in "Cocoanut Grove," the new film opening today at the Atlas Theatre, and their delirious antics are a running gag all through the picture.

The story of "Cocoanut Grove," which stars Fred MacMurray, and has a featured cast of such well-known entertainers as Harriet Hilliard, Ben Blue, Rufe Davis, Harry Owens and his Royal Hawaiian Orchestra and Dorothy Howe, is the story of a happy-go-lucky swing band leader and his hungry crew playing their way to fame and fortune at Hollywood's famous night spot, the Cocoanut Grove.

To give premature infants a better chance of survival, the Children's Hospital in Cincinnati keeps an air-conditioned room for them, with temperature at 84 degrees and humidity 65 per cent.

Vocabulary Of Pet Dogs Issued

SOUTHAMPTON (CP)—Wilfred J. Funk, lover of words and dogs, made public today a dog dictionary of 204 words which he called "a sample potential recognition of the vocabulary of a pet dog."

He explained the list was composed of words which could be understood by a bright pooch accustomed to human society.

Funk leaped to the front as lexicographer to the canine world recently when newspapers published his statement that the average family dog has a recognition vocabulary of 60 words. Since then he has received hundreds of letters on the subject of what to say to dogs.

One woman took exception to the word "siccum," saying it was low language for a cultured dog. She sent a list of polite words for polite dogs.

Dr. Funk found it easy to tell which dogs had been family and which had been canine hoodlums, roaming the streets without benefit of education. The latter couldn't understand a word, he said.

Consulting pediatricians he found that the average intelligent dog understands about the same number of words as a baby 18 months old.

CANADIANS IN EBRO BATTLE

By HENRY CASSIDY
Associated Press Foreign Staff

At a Spanish Government Base Hospital Behind the Ebro Front—The first Canadian and other foreign combatants to return from the front after fighting in the government offensive across the Ebro River said today the International Brigade was taking "plenty of revenge" on the insurgents for its previous defeat in the same sector.

Volunteers who had been slightly wounded in action said they had won a smashing victory, driving deep into insurgent territory.

The wounded men were on cots in a long, cool ward in a former monastery on a hill overlooking the Mediterranean.

Two Canadians were there, Roderick Mackenzie of Sudbury, Ont., with light machine gun bull wounds in one knee and one finger, and Don Macrae of Regina. One of Macrae's legs had been creased by a bullet.

They said they had crossed the Ebro just before daybreak last Thursday and marched forward easily, with the insurgent line dissolving before them.

AHEAD OF PLANS

"We went over on a bluff—just ourselves and machine guns," said Saul Wellman of New York. "We always were 16 to 20 hours ahead of schedule."

It was only on the third day that they met land resistance. When insurgent cavalry came up they went into a defensive formation.

Wellman said the advance "was a demonstration to the world we can still fight."

"Now we are going to take Gandesa."

ESCAPED MAN IS HUNTED IN ALBERTA

CALGARY (CP)—Across Alberta search by Royal Canadian Mounted Police was under way today for Thomas MacRae, 34, of Livingstone, Mont., who escaped from the police barracks at Banff, mountain resort 85 miles west of Calgary, early Sunday night.

Arrested a week ago, MacRae was held on false pretences charges—alleged passing of worthless cheques—and was to have been arraigned in court this morning.

MacRae was reported missing after the early evening check of cells at the Banff R.C.M.P. barracks last night. Police did not disclose how the escape was effected.

J. A. MacKinnon Passes Away

MALAGASH, N.S. (CP)—Major James A. MacKinnon, housekeeper and chief messenger in the Canadian House of Commons, died of heart attack while swimming near this Cumberland County village Saturday. He was on a visit to his birthplace.

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. (CP)—A. Jules Marion, Liberal, had a lead of 18 votes over W. J. Windrum, Liberal, in the deferred Athabasca provincial election today, with two polls yet to report. Strike Hearing Pause Is Forced NEWTON, Ia. (AP)—Madison Hill, trial examiner for the National Labor Relations Board, adjourned the board's hearing into the Maytag strike controversy here for 48 hours after a brief meeting today.

His action followed an order by Governor Nelson G. Kraschel to national guardsmen enforcing martial law in Newton to close the hearing.

Hill made no comment as to whether he or the board would resist the governor's order after the 48-hour recess.

Only attorneys for the Maytag Washing Machine Company and the striking Committee for Industrial Organization union were present at the hearing today.

Hill called the session to order and declared continuance until Wednesday without reading the governor's order to the group. The meeting promptly adjourned.

Fire Spreading Near Bremerton

SEATTLE (AP)—United States sailors at the Puget Sound Navy Yard in Bremerton were standing by today, ready to go to the aid of a large force of forest firemen if a fire, sweeping uncontrolled through 18,000,000 feet of green timber south of Bremerton, should menace the navy yard city.

Ten families abandoned their homes on the old navy yard road last night as the flames crept northward.

The usual night-time decrease in wind velocity, supplemented by increasing humidity, aided the 150 fire-fighters and they were able to break a fire trail around most of the fire, with three bulldozer machines.

The wind also shifted during the night and prevented the blaze eating deeper into the city's watershed. Three pumps and a 1,000-gallon street flushing tank were battling the blaze today and the Civilian Conservation Corps, establishing a temporary camp at Bear Creek, was bringing 50 additional men into the firelines.

Navy yard officials late last night promised Public Works Commissioner C. C. Casad sailors and navy fire equipment would be sent to the scene if their help were needed. The fire was within seven miles of Bremerton at that time.

FIVE HELD FOR BANK ROBBERY

OTTAWA (CP)—Oscar Campbell, 41, was in jail here today charged with the $12,000 robbery of the Richmond, Ont., branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia last July 19. Four others, two men and two women, were also in custody as the result of a raid yesterday by Ontario provincial police on a cottage near here.

Campbell was reported to be wanted in connection with a murder in Outremont, Que.

Arrested with him were Mary Donnelly, 28, Adelia Rogers, 38, and Harold Proulx, 45, all of Toronto, and William Byrne, 50, Hull, Que. Miss Donnelly was charged with conspiracy to stage an armed robbery and the others were held for questioning.

U.S. DOCTORS IN NEW COURT TEST

CHICAGO (AP)—The American Medical Association said today of a Justice Department move to determine if "organized medicine" has violated the anti-trust laws that "apparently it remains to be determined whether or not the federal administration can use the laws and the courts to mould the people of the United States to its belief in every phase of life and living."

The statement, titled "The Department of Justice Intervenes in Medical Care," will be published this week as an editorial in the association's journal. The inquiry was announced last night in Washington by Thurman Arnold, assistant Attorney-General.

VOTE AGAINST GUILD

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Labor Relations Board today announced that editorial, art, photographic and business department employees of King Features Syndicate Inc. had voted 290 to 253 against having the American Newspaper Guild named as collective bargaining agency.

The board said 635 persons were eligible to vote, but only 544 cast ballots and one vote was challenged.

Steels and Motors Erase Their Losses

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market wore blinders today, so far as "good" news was concerned, and leading issues backed down fractions to a point or more in one of the slowest sessions since the inauguration of the June-July upsurge.

The ticker tape barely crawled throughout the proceedings and transfers approximated only 600,000 shares.

The list attempted a feeble come-back near the final hour when the American Iron and Steel Institute placed this week's mill operating rate at 39.8 per cent of capacity, up 2.8 points from the previous week. It was a high mark since last November and the fourth consecutive weekly advance.

Steels and motors, for a brief interval, erased most of their losses, and there were a few gains sprinkled about at the last. There was no quickening of the pace on the rallying struggle.

The new Japanese-Russian clash in the far east was characterized by financial observers as "disturbing," but these questioned whether it had any particular market effect.

The bond market moved in a narrow and irregular course with trading light in all groups.

At the beginning of the final hour declines of minor fractions to around a point were shown by Armour 4s, Baltimore and Ohio Convertible 4½s, Illinois Central 4¾s, Southern Railway 4s and Studebaker 6s.

Moving up an equal distance were Northern Pacific 4s, Western Union 5s, Santa Fe 4s and Cuba Northern Railway 5½s.

U.S. Governments were 3-32 of a point lower to 2-32 higher.

LOAN RENEWED

EDMONTON (CP)—A treasury bill of $500,000 due today had been renewed already by the Dominion government, according to Provincial Treasurer Solon Low. The money was borrowed by Alberta from Ottawa a year ago at 3 per cent interest. The Dominion has given Alberta a renewal at the same interest rate, Mr. Low said.

"RIGGS HOT" SAYS BUDGE

Declares Chicago Youngster Will Be Man to Beat in U.S. Nationals

NEW YORK—Don Budge, the tennis player no one can beat, is back in the United States with words of high praise for Bobby Riggs, the stalwart Chicagoan who is the only cloud on Budge's tennis horizon.

Budge arrived on the liner Brittanic from England yesterday with the word, "Bobby Riggs is hot. He's a great player and will be the man to whip."

Experts who saw Riggs thump Elwood Cooke in the Sea Bright finals Saturday agree with Budge. One even went so far as to say that no amateur in the world could stand up against the Riggs of Saturday afternoon.

It is suspected, however, that Budge will enter the national singles just the same. He is crusading for four national titles, French, British, Australia and United States, in a calendar year, and the United States title is the only one remaining. He will start after it at Forest Hills September 8.

ARE WEARY

Budge and his doubles partner, Gene Mako, looked as though they should be headed for a vacation instead of a couple of months of the stiffest kind of competition. They were travel worn and weary, after completing a year of travel of approximately 25,000 miles.

As far as the little matter of Davis Cup defence goes, Budge has great respect for the Australian team. He feels sure it will beat Japan in the American zone finals and give him and his mates plenty to think about in the challenge round.

BIG AREA COVERED

WASHINGTON (AP)—The navy estimated today the search for the lost Hawaii Clipper had covered 35,000 square miles, or slightly less than the area of Indiana.

Both army and navy leaders said the search for the big plane and the 15 persons on board was continuing.

NEW YORK—Ingersoll-Rand declared a dividend of $1.50 a share on common stock, payable September 1 to holders of record August 8. On June 1 last a dividend of $1 was paid on the common, prior to which $1.50 quarterly was paid.

Irregular Losses In Quiet Trading

VANCOUVER (CP)—Interest was lacking during the forenoon session on Vancouver Stock Exchange today and prices held unchanged to irregularly lower. Sales totaled 21,410 shares.

Unchanged stocks included, Bralorne at 9.50, Big Missouri at 31, Gold Belt at 47, Reno at 45 and Sheep Creek at 96.

In the base metals, Pend Oreille declined 10 at 2.10, while Nicola firmed a fraction at 3¾. Other metal prices were unchanged.

Early Balloons

Did a woman help to invent the first balloon?

That is the question for which we may never have a certain answer, but at least there is a story which runs like this;

"One day in 1782, two young Frenchmen were trying to make a paper bag rise into the air.

Lynn's balloon as it fell into Lake Erie.

On a small tin plate, they made a fire, and held the open end of the bag over it. The bag filled out, but when they let go of it, it would not rise more than a few inches.

"Then a woman came into the room (some say she was a neighbor, some say a servant) and asked them what they were doing. They explained their plan, and she said, 'Why don't you fasten the tin to the bottom of the bag? Then maybe the bag will lift it.' The young men did as she suggested, and sure enough the bag rose to the ceiling, pulling the tin plate after it."

While that story may or may not be true, it is clearly known that the young Frenchmen—the Montgolfier brothers—made their early tests with paper bags.

When air is heated, it becomes thinner and lighter. That is why a bag filled with hot air tends to rise into the air. Some of the early man-carrying balloons were filled with hot air.

Stephen Montgolfier was invited to Paris, and there he built a balloon of large size. He didn't want to go up in it himself, but fastened a basket to it, and in the basket placed a sheep and two barnyard fowls. To the wonder of a crowd in a Paris suburb, the balloon rose high in the air. When it came down, people rushed to it and found the animals alive.

A Frenchman named Rozier managed the first balloon which carried people into the air. His only companion was a nobleman, the Marquis d'Arlandes. Half a mile high over Paris, the balloonists feared they might come down on one of the houses, but they stirred up the fire and stayed aloft until the wind took them to the other side of the city. They landed half an hour after starting up, having traveled a distance of six miles.

News of the event spread from country to country. In Scotland a man named Tytler made an ascent, and in the autumn of 1784 the people of London saw a balloon rise for the first time.

As time went on, many men made their living by going up in balloons, since people were willing to pay money to watch such events. A famous ascent took place at Cleveland in July, 1859. A balloonist known as "Professor Lynn" rose before a crowd with a single passenger.

To the horror of those watching, a strong wind swept the balloonists over Lake Erie. Lynn and the passenger threw out all the ballast, but the balloon settled in the water. Boats came to the rescue, however, and saved the men from drowning.

HOROSCOPE

Tuesday, August 2, 1938

According to astrology this may be a difficult day for those who desire to push business plans. While the stars encourage initiative, serious mistakes that cause quarrels may be numerous.

Speculation in all forms will flourish for a time. Stock markets will show sudden rises. Gold mines this month will add interest to financial matters. Money will be of unusual concern in international relations.

While victories are reported from battle fronts, there will be unheralded conquests by powerful bankers and financiers.

Thunder storms and earthquake shocks may mark coming weeks. High winds may be expected in the early autumn and droughts will cause heavy losses in various parts of the world.

Women will forward their sentimental prospects by letters more than by social contacts today. Weather conditions will be unfavorable to even tempers and aesthetic appearances.

Children born on this day probably will be versatile in talents and determined in character. Subjects of this sign of Leo usually are fortunate in using their opportunities successfully.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of gain through hard work, but there may be disappointments in plans for journeys or other recreations.

The evening may be disappointing to girls who find flirtations diverting. The stars encourage indifferent or critical points of view among eligible young men.

Family quarrels as well as political conflicts may be numerous under this rule of the stars which stimulates selfishness.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I am a young widow with no children. I have a few thousand dollars in the bank and a very good job. There is a man who wants to marry me. He has not worked for six years. Hasn't got a penny and is a drunkard. He wants to buy a farm with my money and to put him on his feet, and I love him so much I think I'll do it. What do you advise?

NORTH POLE.

Answer: I would advise you to take out some insurance against being slain by the Fool Killer, for he will certainly get you if you marry this man. You must be so completely besotted with love that you have lost every vestige of common sense even to consider such a thing.

As you are now, you are sitting on top of the world. You are young enough to marry some worthwhile man. You have a good job and you have a comfortable little nest egg to give you a sense of security. You haven't a care nor an anxiety in the world, and you are actually thinking of chucking all of these good things out of the window for the sake of a temporary infatuation for a drunken bum.

If you are silly enough to make a marriage like that, you will certainly get just what you deserve and none of your friends will feel called to shed any tears over you. Of one thing you may be certain, and bear it in mind when you make your decision. It is this: No woman in the world can make a man over by marrying him. Marriage doesn't change her into a magician who can put a spine in a weakling, or who can keep a drunkard from thirsting for liquor, or turn a lazy man into a go-getter, or stop a philanderer from chasing petticoats. What he was before marriage he is going to be after marriage. Long before he was old enough to become a husband his character and disposition were set and no wife can alter them.

JEFFERSON TO CLOSE SERVICE

Ship Due Here Sunday Last of American Mail on Orient Route

SEATTLE—With the arrival of the steamship President Jefferson from the Orient this week-end and her withdrawal from service, the American flag will have disappeared from the Seattle trans-Pacific route after having flown from government-built passenger liners for just three years short of two decades.

Seventeen years ago this month, the return of the American flag to this route was being heralded throughout the country. Announcement of the service over the short route from Seattle to the Orient was blazoned over the pages of national magazines and metropolitan newspapers in all parts of the country. Ten million readers of the most potent publications of that time were being told of the establishment of a "new American trans-Pacific highway," a new American short route to the Orient through the Puget Sound gateway.

The initial announcement appeared in a leading magazine, then in one of the top ranking weeklies of the country, and 12 other magazines of national circulation. Supporting this were similar advertisements of the "new American service, by an American company, for the American people," in the newspapers of 30 metropolitan centres in the east and middle west.

President Jefferson is expected to reach Victoria next Sunday night.

H.M.C.S. Venture Carries Naval and Air Expedition Up St. Lawrence

HALIFAX (CP) — H.M.C.S. Venture, auxiliary schooner of the Canadian naval service, sailed at noon today for Anticosti, the Magdalen Islands and points along the St. Lawrence littoral.

Under instructions of Hon. Ian Mackenzie, National Defence Minister, the Venture carries a joint Canadian naval and air force expedition to survey bases for the defence of the St. Lawrence.

At Ellis Bay, Anticosti Island, the Venture will make a rendezvous with other air forces who will fly direct from Halifax.

The joint operations are part of the national defence plans to build up and establish adequate defences for the protection of Quebec, Montreal and all the cities and towns along both shores of the St. Lawrence.

It has been realized that the menace to Canada from the Atlantic in the event of hostilities may primarily be air attacks launched from aircraft carriers.

The Royal Canadian Air Force will establish its front line of defence at the strategic area of the St. Lawrence where the gulf narrows into the river and Anticosti and Magdalen islands command the approaches.

Of the north side of Anticosti the ship channel is only 19 miles wide and on the south side a 35-mile stretch of water lies between Anticosti and the Gaspe Peninsula.

Anticosti Island is 360 miles below Montreal. The Venture expedition will make an aerial survey of the island and adjacent coasts for suitable terrain for air bases.

The ship and accompanying planes will then sail for the Magdalen Islands and make regular surveys there.

Action by the Minister of National Defence renders impossible the use of Anticosti by any non-British power.

The island is owned by the Consolidated Paper Corporation who bought it from Gaston Menier in 1926 for $5,500,000. During the war it was still owned by Menier and his "director-general," G. M. Zede, urged upon the Dominion Government that the island should be manned and armed to prevent its use by the Germans as a submarine base.

GERMAN ISSUE

Recent negotiations for the sale of Anticosti to a German syndicate brought the issue again to the forefront. The syndicate through a Dutch agent approached the corporation and took an option to purchase.

Last November the syndicate visited Montreal and after a conference with officials of the corporation, visited the island.

The proposed sale came to public knowledge and was aired on the floor of parliament and numerous protests reached the government against permitting the island to get into foreign ownership.

The Department of National Defence investigated. The proposed purchasers insisted that they were interested only in the pulpwood and other natural resources.

Premier Duplessis of Quebec stated that he would not permit any pulpwood to be exported.

The Dominion authorities have taken no action with respect to the sale negotiations. Anticosti is part of the province of Quebec, which controls property and civil rights.

The Dominion, however, has exclusive jurisdiction with respect to the property rights and privileges of aliens in Canada. No members of the syndicate are Canadians but are German financiers, engineers, foresters and accountants.

With respect to the defence measures the national defence officers are carrying out, the Dominion has exclusive authority and jurisdiction.

The ownership of the island, nor the provincial jurisdiction do not in any way affect the Dominion's right to take over and expropriate any territory needed for defence purposes.

The Venture expedition may, therefore, select such areas as needed in the defence scheme, and the Dominion may take action to segregate them.

Anticosti Island may then become the hub of the defence wheel, both for the R.C.A.F. and the Royal Canadian Navy.

DISCIPLINE VERY LIGHT

Suspension of Corrigan Ends With Arrival at New York

WASHINGTON (AP) — Douglas Corrigan, a young Irishman with an inexpensive airplane who is on the way home, got a pat on the back Saturday from the United States Commerce Department.

As news dispatches from Cobh, Eire, told of Corrigan's departure the commerce department was worried. It was faced with the news thousands of New Yorker were preparing to trample each other underfoot a few days hence in honor of the flier who skimmed from New York to Eire without the department's permission—July 17.

In short it was faced with the task of disciplining a man who was the hero-worship of millions. Here is how the department neatly solved the dilemma:

It sent a radio message to Corrigan aboard Ss. Manhattan, telling him his commercial pilot's certificate would be suspended until August 4. Corrigan is scheduled to land August 5. He couldn't do much flying aboard ship. In effect the suspension is no suspension at all.

PREPARE RECEPTION

Acting Secretary of Commerce Col. J. Monroe Johnson, who announced the department's action, said a number of nice things about the flight. He said it aroused "world-wide sentiments of good will," and that it was executed "with daring and skill."

But at the same time, pursuing its duty, the department said there must be no more mixing up of Dublin, Eire, officials said, with Los Angeles.

Meanwhile in New York preparations for a hero's reception found the borough of Brooklyn and the borough of Manhattan at dagger's point over who shall kill the fatted calf.

"He'll come up the harbor of Manhatton," announced the Manhattanites, firmly.

"Wrong way," countered the Brooklyn boosters. "He'll come first to the place he started from —Brooklyn."

"All wrong," snapped Manhattan. "Heroes always come to Manhattan. Whoever heard of anything but a tickerf-tape parade up Broadway for a hero? Brooklyn—preposterous!"

WILL SAIL BY AORANGI

Distinguished English and Irish Delegation to Australia Here Wednesday

MONTREAL (CP)—Bound for Sydney, Australia, where they will join other representatives in discussing individual interests of the British Commonwealth of Nations, English and Irish delegates from the Royal Institute of International Affairs arrived here by the Canadian Pacific liner Duchess of Richmond and are today bound west.

Headed by Ivison Macadam, secretary of the institute, the party included General Sir John Burnett-Stuart, Admiral Sir Howard Kelley, Sir Frederick Minter, Sir John Pratt, Hon. Hugh Wyndham, Miss Grace Hadow, Lionel Curtiss, G. D. Hadley, Miss H. J. Harver, James Walker, M.P., and H. Hodson all from England and J. T. O'Farrell, H. M. Dockerell and James Meenan of Ireland.

Mr. Macadam explained "the gathering is based upon an acceptance of the pact that the commonwealth is a group of autonomous and equal nations, and that a careful study of individual interests of each is the most constructive approach to the examination of co-operation between them." The conference is private and unofficial in character, he added, and delegates do not represent their governments nor any corporate body.

Sir John Pratt, who retired recently from the post of advisor to the Foreign Office on Far Eastern affairs, said in an interview that the settlement of the Chinese war would see drastic changes and although England has as yet taken little initiative in the situation due to the chaotic conditions in Europe "pretty soon the lion's tail will start to lash."

With the Canadian delegates the British and Irish party are scheduled to sail from Victoria by the motorliner Aorangi Wednesday for Sydney.

Trustees Named For School Area

GANGES HARBOR—The first general meeting of the Salt Spring Island United School district was held Wednesday in the Mahon Hall, Ganges. Gavin C. Mouat, organizer of consolidated areas, was in the chair.

The meeting was called as the result of a resolution passed a few weeks ago in favor of consolidation of the rural school districts of Burgoyne Bay, The Divide, Cranberry, Ganges Harbor, Vesuvius and North Vesuvius, with the provision that the Department of Education would give sufficient assistance to consolidated districts to enable them to finance the scheme on a tax rate of not more than six mills. The election of five trustees resulted as follows: For Vesuvius, Gavin C. Mouat; North Vesuvius, V Case Morris; Ganges Harbor, Edwin Parsons and A. W. Drake; Burgoyne Bay, Mrs. W. H. Lee. F. O. Stacey was elected auditor.

A discussion as to a school site was held. Authority was given the trustees to deal with the building, playgrounds and conveniences.

A recommendation to accept the offer of Gavin C. Mouat to donate a piece of land was endorsed.

The sum of $4,250 was voted for expenses.

The yearly food bill for the animals in the London zoo amounts to more than $75,000.

CORRIENTES IN

Ss. Corrientes, Capt. M. McK. Brown, was in port Sunday to the Donaldson Line with 120 tons of general cargo for discharge.

She came in from Glasgow via Panama, Guayaquil and Los Angeles, San Francisco and Seattle and cleared at 11.30 yesterday morning for Seattle. The local freight consisted of bananas from Ecuador and citrus fruits from California.

Bob Cumberbirch of Rithet Consolidated Ltd. states that the newest Donaldson schedule calls for the arrival of the Cordillera, coming out as a special reefer ship in the fruit trade, to arrive here October 22.

Damage By Hail In Saskatchewan

SWIFT CURRENT, Sask. (CP) —Thousands of acres of some of the best wheat this district has seen in some years were smashed to the ground Saturday night in a hail storm which covered a five-mile strip that apparently petered out a short distance west of Niedpath.

The hail struck in hit-and-miss fashion, however, one farmer reporting that of 500 acres of wheat only 200 had been wiped out. Hailstones as big as eggs rained down in the five-minute storm.

The storm started at Shackleton, sweeping southwest through the Cabri district and south to Swift Current.

FISH PARLEY ADJOURNS WEEK

VANCOUVER (CP) — Meeting of the board of arbitration attempting to fix prices paid to fishermen for salmon was adjourned from tomorrow until Tuesday week, it was announced today.

Sports Mirror

he is disgusted at the behaviour of some professionals.

Mr. Arlen's decision may mean the collapse of the West Coast tournaments next winter. In explaining the step he has taken he said: "I am thoroughly fed up with the professional golfer and am centring my entire attention on amateur golf from now on. Some of the golf professionals in this country are just a bunch of over-dressed caddies with an enormous ego and the methods of racketeers."

His main complaint is that the professionals are not sufficiently appreciative of the purse money provided by the tournaments.

The executive committee of the United States Golf Association have decided on the following ruling in connection with amateur and professional status:

"A boy may not engage in amateur competition who is in an occupation which would class him as a professional if he were over the age limit of exemption from that classification."

Thus, caddies, caddie-masters and assistants to professionals are not eligible for amateur competitions, regardless of their age.

If players who have been caddies or caddie-masters have ceased to act as such prior to their 18th birthday, or if an assistant to a professional ceased to act as such prior to his 16th birthday, they are automatically amateur golfers and do not need to apply for reinstatement to amateur standing.
